Reds Fail Again To Clog Saigon Shipping Channel

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong made another unsuccessful attempt to block the main shipping channel to Saigon today, exploding a mine near a U.S. Navy mine-40 yards away.

U.S. officials sought to determine whether Communist saboteurs or a short circuit caused a million-dollar fire that destroyed an American military warehouse and damaged another near Saigon before dawn.

Second GI Awaits Trial

Refusal To Go To Viet Charged

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP) — A second soldier faces general court-martial today for refusing to go to Viet Nam. The first, Pvt. Dennis Mora of New York, was sentenced to three years of hard labor, a dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of pay.

Mora, 25, stood at attention Wednesday as his sentence was passed by a 10-officer court after 18 minutes of deliberation. Seconds later, he was smiling at his family in the court room.

A defense attorney said the verdict would go through military appellate procedures, then would be appealed to the U.S. Military Court of Appeals, composed of three civilian judges appointed by the President.

Today, Pfc. James Johnson, 20, also of New York, goes on trial for the same charge. Both soldiers told a news conference in New York June 30 that they would not fight in Viet Nam. A week later, Army authorities picked them up and brought them here.

A third soldier, who also attended the news conference, is being held in the Ft. Dix stockade awaiting trial on similar charges. He is Pvt. David Sammas, 20, of Modesto, Calif.

Mora's defense contended the war in Viet Nam was not declared by Congress and therefore an order to Mora to report there was illegal. Mora told the court he deliberately violated a superior officer's order July 14 that he enter a military vehicle for subsequent transport to Viet Nam. He admitted that he knew he was violating military rule but told the court he felt he would be committing "a war crime" under international law if he went to Viet Nam.

Mora has said he was a member of the W.E.B. DuBois Club, a group declared subversive by the U.S. attorney general.

Scientists Cry: 'Stop the Slugs!'

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — The medical division of Oak Ridge Associated Universities has issued a call for 1,000 slugs, — snail-type, slippery gastropods — and offered to pay five cents for each one they get.

Today they issued this call: Stop the slugs!

Youthful stalkers for science had swamped the division offices with more than 2,000 slugs by late Wednesday.

The slugs are to be used by the Orau Lipid Research Group. Lipids, proteins and carbohydrates make up the principal components of living cells.

Red Carpet Rolled Out For Burmese Chieftain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Ne Win, Burma's military chief of state, receives a presidential welcome and 21-gun White House salute today as he begins a three-day official visit here.

Ne Win, 55, and his wife were scheduled to arrive shortly before noon after a helicopter flight from nearby Williamsburg, Va., where they spent the night.

Johnson and the Burmese leader arranged a late afternoon meeting.

No Senate Civil Rights Bill Vote Seen before Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — The near-certainty that the Senate will not vote before the November elections on the hotly disputed open housing section of the civil rights bill is bringing quiet sighs of relief from some senators up for re-election.

As matters stand, the Democratic leadership is likely to have to put the House-passed bill on the shelf after a couple of weeks of snail-paced filibustering by its opponents. Even if the measure is revived later, it would be in a postelection session.

In two days of maneuvering, supporters of the legislation have not been able to keep enough senators on hand to transact business. After a 75-minute call of the roll produced the required 51 Wednesday, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., managed to get in a motion to take up the bill.

But the Senate quickly turned to a $3.5-billion foreign aid authorization. After it sent that bill along to President Johnson by a 33-25 vote, the quorum vanished. When an hour's effort failed to get enough members back, Hart gave up and moved for adjournment for the day.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called the outcome "a disgraceful exhibition of doing nothing." He said opponents and proponents of the bill were equally guilty of absenting themselves.

"Unfortunately," he said, "you've got a lot of them campaigning and that seems to be taking precedence."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who had waited patiently to assail the housing provision but didn't get to speak, told reporters the absentee list indicated "a cyclonic enthusiasm for something other than this bill."

Mansfield said with Dirksen opposing it, the measure's chance of ever becoming law is just about zero.

Without the backing of Dirksen and GOP members who follow his line, the bill's proponents can't muster the necessary two-thirds majority to cut off debate once it actually starts — and get to a vote on any of its provisions.

Dirksen contends the partial ban on racial discrimination in the sale and rental of housing is unconstitutional.

Dirksen isn't a candidate for re-election this year but some senators who are running are not nearly as certain as he seems to be about which way the political wind is blowing. For some who court the Negro vote, there is the disturbing problem of white backlash against Negro demonstrations aimed at breaking down housing discrimination.

Dirksen's position is complicated by the fact that he is a moderate Republican. He has often been a swing vote in the Senate. He has supported civil rights legislation in the past, but he has also been a vocal opponent of it.

Son of Downed Flier Is Missing

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — An Air Force officer newly listed by the Defense Department as missing in action in Viet Nam is the son of a flier shot down during World War II.

The missing officer is Lt. Raymond P. Salzarulo Jr., 25, whose father was lost in the Battle of Midway in the Pacific. His mother, now remarried, is Mrs. Robert H. Behnke of Steubenville, Ohio.

Salzarulo Jr., born after his father vanished at sea, is a graduate of the Air Force Academy.

Toledo Cops, Firemen Point to 1919 Rule

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo police and firemen have demanded enforcement of a 1919 city charter clause that establishes a work week maximum of 48 hours for city employees.

The demand for enforcement of the city charter section was the latest move in attempts by police and firemen to break the deadlock with city officials over requests for higher pay. Firemen are also seeking a cut in their 54 hour work week.

Compromise Foreign Aid Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's foreign aid program is over the hill for this year—but not out of the woods.

After weeks of debate and fusing, a compromise $3.5-billion aid authorization was on its way to the White House today.

But the measure, which previously had been approved by the House, cleared the Senate Wednesday by only eight votes — 33 to 25. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which handled the measure, wasn't even there to vote either way or nay.

The measure as finally approved was a compromise worked out by a conference committee that reconciled dozens of differences between the Senate and House versions of the program.

Originally, the President had asked for $3,387,000,000 for the aid program—both military and economic. The House had authorized $4,109,190,000. But the Senate, in an obviously rebellious mood, chopped the request to $2,852,762,000.

In the Senate-House negotiations the administration ended up with $3,500,735,500—a figure that could be reduced when the appropriation bill starts through the mill.

Spring Planting Time in October?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors, congressmen and a national committee want you to get out during the week of Oct. 2-8 and plant things.

That's "National Spring Garden Planting Week."

In October?

That's the time, they say, to plant lawns, trees, shrubs and bulbs to bring that first splash of cheer after a dreary winter.

The Senate has passed a resolution authorizing the President to proclaim Oct. 2-8 of each year as spring garden planting week.

But it has languished in the House Judiciary Committee. Its not that members there are against spring garden planting — some reportedly are against any more special weeks being proclaimed.

"If Congress doesn't pass it, we'll still keep going," Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, chairman of the National Spring Garden Planting Week committee, said in an interview. She is the wife of the Democratic senator from Washington, who was author of the resolution.

Gemini Flight Set for Friday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Gemini 11 astronauts, confident and ready to shatter space records, relaxed today as preparations clicked smoothly toward a doubleheader launch Friday.

Project officials gave a go-ahead to fuel the 90-foot-tall Gemini-Titan 2 rocket this morning. Except for brief meetings with project officials, Gemini 11 pilots Charles Conrad Jr. and spacemaker-to-be Richard F. Gordon Jr. planned only a casual review of their flight plan while relaxing in crew quarters here.

"We've endeavored to lay this flight plan out so we have a chance of doing everything," Navy Lt. Cmdr. Gordon said, "and we think we've got that chance. I couldn't ask for a better flight."

Goals of their planned 71-hour mission include a rapid rendezvous with the Agena target satellite on Gemini 11's first orbit using the Agena's main engine to scoot them to a record altitude of 863 miles, flying in formation with the Agena while tied to it by a 100-foot cord and performing an automatic "hands-off" re-entry.

Gordon, 36, rookie astronaut, plans two ventures outside Gemini 11 — a 107-minute stroll during Gemini 11's second day aloft and a 140-minute "space stand" the third day, when the spaceman pops the upper half of his body outside the spaceship to photograph stars.

Navy Cmdr. Conrad, veteran of the eight-day Gemini 5 flight slightly more than a year ago, and Gordon are to blast off at 10:25 a.m. Friday, 97 minutes after their Atlas-Agena target rocket roars skyward at 8:48 a.m.

Rendezvous on Gemini 11's first orbit "is really the extreme of the gamut of rendezvous," said Charles W. Mathews, Gemini program manager for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center. "In other words, this is about as short as you can do a rendezvous."

"The biggest thing," Conrad said, is not that its a first-orbit rendezvous but the fact that we have to do it on our own. It's the first crack at doing it with our own information and no help from the ground."

Because of the short time to rendezvous, the astronauts have to rely mostly on equipment aboard the spacecraft.

Navy Says Viet Building To Cost $200 Million

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — The expanding war has so altered initial estimates of U.S. construction programs in Viet Nam that another $200 million is required to complete projects already on the books, U.S. Navy officials said today.

The money is needed to finance projects currently being built by the RMK-BRJ Consortium, a group of U.S. construction companies that holds contracts worth $800 million.

The U.S. Navy supervises the construction.

One example of the expanding costs is improvement of the Saigon port, where the initial estimate of $10 million has been upped to $50 million. The increase was caused by demands for more wharf space to handle the vastly increased sea traffic to Viet Nam from the United States.

The Department of Defense is now considering increased allocations to enable completion of current projects.

The deputy officer in charge of construction, U.S. Navy Capt. W. R. Rogers, said today: "This is not a critical situation. Building is going ahead all over Viet Nam by our civilian contractors. This money is needed because the needs of our customers, the Army, Navy and Air Force, have expanded."

RMK-BRJ operates on a cost-plus basis ranging from 1.7 to 2.46 per cent of the eventual cost of a project. It is building jet airfields, deepwater ports, warehouses, power plants, ammunition storage depots, troop cantonments, hospitals and a wide variety of other projects.

At its peak, the combine's work force numbered 51,700, the largest force ever assembled for an American construction program.

While some projects are costing more because of the expanding war, the over-all programming in Viet Nam is less at this point than investigated a year ago, U.S. Navy officials said. For this reason, RMK-BRJ is geared up for more work than they are getting.

Four companies make up RMK-BRJ — Raymond International Inc. of New York, Morrison-Knudson of Boise, Idaho, Brown and Root of Houston, Tex., and the J.A. Jones Construction Co. of Charlotte, N.C.

The consortium has started laying off workers, including Americans. Officials from the consortium are known to be unhappy because some contracts they feel they could have handled cheaper have gone to other contractors.

Marine Gives His Medal to Dead Buddy

DOWAGIAC, Mich. (AP) — A Marine who won the Purple Heart in Viet Nam has given it to a dead comrade who didn't.

Tom Klein and John Edgerly, both 21, enlisted in the Marine Corps together. Both went to Viet Nam.

Klein stepped on a mine, shattering both his legs. One was amputated.

Edgerly was hit by lightning while standing guard near Da Nang. Because it wasn't a combat injury, he did not receive the Purple Heart.

Still in his wheelchair, Klein attended Edgerly's funeral in Dowagiac recently. He rolled up to the casket and pinned his medal on the dead Marine's pillow.

"I figure anyone who has guts enough to fight over there deserves recognition, no matter how he died," Klein said.

Murder Rap Is Reduced

Second Degree Charge Levied

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard pleaded "not guilty" in a loud voice to day to a charge of second-degree murder as he stood before Judge Roy F. McMahon in the same courtroom where he was convicted nearly 12 years ago in the bludgeoning death of his first wife, Marilyn.

Judge McMahon set bond at $10,000—the same amount as a federal bond on which Sheppard has been free since July, 1964, while winning a habeas corpus action in federal court.

Sheppard's second wife, Ariane, a German divorcee whom he married two days after his release from the Ohio Penitentiary where he served more than nine years, sat in the front row among about 12 spectators. Beside her was Sheppard's 19-year-old son, Samuel Jr.

The arraignment for Sheppard's second trial was recessed following Sheppard's plea in order to discuss in the judge's chambers a motion for change of venue which attorney F. Lee Bailey of Boston said he intended to make. Bailey was helping Russell A. Sherman of Elyria as Sheppard's counsel.

The conference lasted about a half hour, during which time Sheppard was booked on the amended charge and proceedings were ended for the day.

Judge McMahon said he would designate a trial judge "by the end of the week," and Bailey said he would file a motion for change of venue "next week."

Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan opened the proceedings with a request to amend the 1954 indictment against Sheppard so that it would charge second-degree murder instead of first-degree. This was done by deleting "de-

13 Young Musicians Are Hailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson hailed 13 young American musicians — winners of an international competition in Moscow — for doing more than diplomats to inspire understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union.

He bestowed the title "national treasures" on the winners Wednesday night before a White House audience that included some of the elite of America's world of music and the performing arts. With the Soviet minister counselor, Alexander I. Zin-chuk, in a front-row East Room seat, Johnson declared:

"I hope history will record this example of how music has reached across the oceans, the walls and the ideologies that separate us, and found response in the hearts of the Russian people. I hope that it will be followed by other actions in other fields so that other threads of understanding can be strung across the space between us."

Afterwards, mingling at a buffet supper in the state dining room, Zin-chuk said Johnson's remarks were "very true."

Reds Fail Again To Clog Saigon Shipping Channel

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong made another unsuccessful attempt to block the main shipping channel to Saigon today, exploding a mine near a U.S. Navy mine-40 yards away.

U.S. officials sought to determine whether Communist saboteurs or a short circuit caused a million-dollar fire that destroyed an American military warehouse and damaged another near Saigon before dawn.

Grenade attacks, assassinations and other violence were on the rise as the Communists increased their terrorist attempt to disrupt the national election Sunday.

U.S. military authorities said there were only small, scattered actions in the ground war, but Vietnamese headquarters said two battalions of government infantrymen battled off two battalions of Viet Cong and killed 30 Reds. There was no letup in the U.S. air offensive against North Viet Nam. American fighter-bombers flew 122 multi-plane missions against the Communist North Wednesday, striking oil depots, bridges, missile sites and transportation lines.

plans two ventures outside Gemini 11 — a 107-minute stroll during Gemini 11's second day aloft and a 140-minute "space stand" the third day, when the spaceman pops the upper half of his body outside the spaceship to photograph stars.

Navy Cmdr. Conrad, veteran of the eight-day Gemini 5 flight slightly more than a year ago, and Gordon are to blast off at 10:25 a.m. Friday, 97 minutes after their Atlas-Agena target rocket roars skyward at 8:48 a.m.

Rendezvous on Gemini 11's first orbit "is really the extreme of the gamut of rendezvous," said Charles W. Mathews, Gemini program manager for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center. "In other words, this is about as short as you can do a rendezvous."

"The biggest thing," Conrad said, is not that its a first-orbit rendezvous but the fact that we have to do it on our own. It's the first crack at doing it with our own information and no help from the ground."

Because of the short time to rendezvous, the astronauts have to rely mostly on equipment aboard the spacecraft.

Navy Says Viet Building To Cost $200 Million

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — The expanding war has so altered initial estimates of U.S. construction programs in Viet Nam that another $200 million is required to complete projects already on the books, U.S. Navy officials said today.

The money is needed to finance projects currently being built by the RMK-BRJ Consortium, a group of U.S. construction companies that holds contracts worth $800 million.

The U.S. Navy supervises the construction.

One example of the expanding costs is improvement of the Saigon port, where the initial estimate of $10 million has been upped to $50 million. The increase was caused by demands for more wharf space to handle the vastly increased sea traffic to Viet Nam from the United States.

The Department of Defense is now considering increased allocations to enable completion of current projects.

The deputy officer in charge of construction, U.S. Navy Capt. W. R. Rogers, said today: "This is not a critical situation. Building is going ahead all over Viet Nam by our civilian contractors."

This money is needed because the needs of our customers, the Army, Navy and Air Force, have expanded."

RMK-BRJ operates on a cost-plus basis ranging from 1.7 to 2.46 per cent of the eventual cost of a project. It is building jet airfields, deepwater ports, warehouses, power plants, ammunition storage depots, troop cantonments, hospitals and a wide variety of other projects.

At its peak, the combine's work force numbered 51,700, the largest force ever assembled for an American construction program.

While some projects are costing more because of the expanding war, the over-all program is profitable.

gramming in Viet Nam is less at this point than investigated a year ago, U.S. Navy officials said. For this reason, RMK-BRJ is geared up for more work than they are getting.

Four companies make up RMK-BRJ — Raymond International Inc. of New York, Morrison-Knudson of Boise, Idaho, Brown and Root of Houston, Tex., and the J.A. Jones Construction Co. of Charlotte, N.C.

The consortium has started laying off workers, including Americans. Officials from the consortium are known to be unhappy because some contracts they feel they could have handled cheaper have gone to other contractors.

Marine Gives His Medal to Dead Buddy

DOWAGIAC, Mich. (AP) — A Marine who won the Purple Heart in Viet Nam has given it to a dead comrade who didn't.

Tom Klein and John Edgerly, both 21, enlisted in the Marine Corps together. Both went to Viet Nam.

Klein stepped on a mine, shattering both his legs. One was amputated.

Edgerly was hit by lightning while standing guard near Da Nang. Because it wasn't a combat injury, he did not receive the Purple Heart.

Still in his wheelchair, Klein attended Edgerly's funeral in Dowagiac recently. He rolled up to the casket and pinned his medal on the dead Marine's pillow.

"I figure anyone who has guts enough to fight over there deserves recognition, no matter how he died," Klein said.

Murder Rap Is Reduced

Second Degree Charge Levied

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard pleaded "not guilty" in a loud voice to day to a charge of second-degree murder as he stood before Judge Roy F. McMahon in the same courtroom where he was convicted nearly 12 years ago in the bludgeon death of his first wife, Marilyn.

Judge McMahon set bond at $10,000—the same amount as a federal bond on which Sheppard has been free since July, 1964, while winning a habeas corpus action in federal court.

Sheppard's second wife, Ariane, a German divorcee whom he married two days after his release from the Ohio Penitentiary where he served more than nine years, sat in the front row among about 12 spectators. Beside her was Sheppard's 19-year-old son, Samuel Jr.

The arraignment for Sheppard's second trial was recessed following Sheppard's plea in order to discuss in the judge's chambers a motion for change of venue which attorney F. Lee Bailey of Boston said he intended to make. Bailey was helping Russell A. Sherman of Elyria as Sheppard's counsel.

The conference lasted about a half hour, during which time Sheppard was booked on the amended charge and proceedings were ended for the day.

Judge McMahon said he would designate a trial judge "by the end of the week," and Bailey said he would file a motion for change of venue "next week."

Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan opened the proceedings with a request to amend the 1954 indictment against Sheppard so that it would charge second degree murder instead of first-degree. This was done by deleting "de-

13 Young Musicians Are Hailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson hailed 13 young American musicians — winners of an international competition in Moscow — for doing more than diplomats to inspire understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union.

He bestowed the title "national treasures" on the winners Wednesday night before a White House audience that included some of the elite of America's world of music and the performing arts. With the Soviet minister counselor, Alexander I. Zinchuk, in a front-row East Room seat, Johnson declared:

"I hope history will record this example of how music has reached across the oceans, the walls and the ideologies that separate us, and found response in the hearts of the Russian people. I hope that it will be followed by other actions in other fields so that other threads of understanding can be strung across the space between us."

Afterwards, mingling at a buffet supper in the state dining room, Zinchuk said Johnson's remarks were "very true."

The 13 winners, ranging in age from 17 to 21, were hailed as "national treasures" by Johnson.

Three trucks and other park equipment also were destroyed in the fire of undetermined origin.

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Fire destroyed a tool shed and a garage at the Ft. Ancient State Park near here Wednesday night with loss estimated at $20,000.

Spring Planting Time in October?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors, congressmen and a national committee want you to get out during the week of Oct. 2-8 and plant things.

That's "National Spring Garden Planting Week."

In October?

That's the time, they say, to plant lawns, trees, shrubs and bulbs to bring that first splash of cheer after a dreary winter.

The Senate has passed a resolution authorizing the President to proclaim Oct. 2-8 of each year as spring garden planting week. But it has languished in the House Judiciary Committee. Its not that members there are against spring garden planting — some reportedly are against any more special weeks being proclaimed.

"If Congress doesn't pass it, we'll still keep going," Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, chairman of the National Spring Garden Planting Week committee, said in an interview. She is the wife of the Democratic senator from Washington, who was author of the resolution.

The committee wrote to all the governors and in reply, 12 have issued proclamations for the special planting week in their own states; seven have promised to issue proclamations, and five have said they will do it if Congress approves the resolution.

In his proclamation, Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, hit the theme of the sponsors, saying: "Every seed sown, each tree planted and every flower bulb placed in the ground will contribute to a more beautiful America."

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt of

Kentucky tied it in with his state's efforts to "make Kentucky a cleaner-greener land."

State garden clubs are participating in the drive, along with gardening magazines, nurserymen and garden writers.

Sen. and Mrs. Magnuson have shrubs, flowers and trees back in their Seattle home.

In their Washington apartment, the senator keeps two pot plants on his desk. He babies and waters them with his own plastic watering can.

"They're his — I never touch them," Mrs. Magnuson said.

4-H Session Scheduled For Sunday

Advisers, junior leaders and parents connected with 4-H activity in Pickaway, Clinton, Fayette and Madison Counties will have an opportunity to participate in a training program on child development, family economics and home furnishing projects.

The training session has been scheduled for Sept. 12 at the First Presbyterian Church in Washington, C. H. The program will start at 7:30 p. m. and last until 9:30. Advisers and junior leaders are urged to take part.

Instructors for the sessions are: child development — Mrs. Beulah M. Hill, Clinton County home economics agent; family economics — Geraldine Olson, Extension specialist; home furnishings — Doris Snook, Extension specialist.

Purpose of the program is to assist 4-H advisers to gain a better understanding of subject matter to be taught in these project fields, and to gain knowledge of teaching methods.

Persons desiring more information may contact the Extension office at 137 W. Franklin St.

Murder Rap

Judge McMahon overruled Bailey's objection to use of an amended indictment which Bailey regarded as a "potential snag" for future proceedings. The judge said, "There's no question that this (second degree) is a lesser included offense."

Corrigan had pointed out that a first degree charge, which carries a death penalty unless the jury makes it a life sentence by recommending mercy, embodies the second-degree charge. Conviction on second degree murder carries a life term with eligibility for paroles after 10 years.

Sheppard, 42, was convicted of second degree murder by a jury in December, 1954, after a long trial. He had sought parole, but was denied.

He won release on a habeas corpus action in a ruling by U.S. District Judge Carl A. Weinman in Dayton. The judge ruled that Sheppard's rights to a fair trial under the 14th Amendment had been violated.

Sheppard was released on bond from the penitentiary while the State of Ohio appealed the ruling by Judge Weinman, but the U.S. Supreme Court upheld his decision last June 6.

Judge Weinman returned the case to Ohio jurisdiction and ordered an arraignment for September 8 after Corrigan had decided Sheppard should be retried.

Before Sheppard, tanned with a short crew cut and wearing a light green suit and bright green striped tie, spoke his "not guilty" Bailey established with Judge McMahon that the plea to the indictment was being made "without waiving any rights to attacking its defects" later.

When bond was set, Bailey requested that Sheppard be given privileges to travel outside Ohio, including visits to conferences at Bailey's offices in Boston. Corrigan said he had "no objection to his going to Boston or anywhere."

The judge then granted Bailey's request to give Sheppard out-of-state travel privileges on bond.

Area Schools Fully Staffed

Pickaway County Schools are fully staffed, according to George D. McDowell, county superintendent.

However, McDowell said a commercial teacher could be used at Logan Elm High School.

"By doubling up some assignments, we will be able to teach every course offered on the schedule," the county superintendent announced.

He pointed out that local schools were fortunate to get all the necessary teachers because of the statewide shortage of elementary and secondary instructors.

Man Fined $100 On Morals Count

Milton Howsman, 29, of 622 Clinton St., was fined $100 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court and handed a 90 day suspended jail sentence.

Howsman was cited for indecent exposure by Circleville Patrolman Wesley Barton. In addition, he was cited for disturbing the peace.

Judge Sterling M. Lamb levied a $50 fine on the latter charge. He placed Howsman on probation for a three year period.

Fined $50 and costs for disorderly conduct was Guy E. Buskirk, 420 John St.

September Term Grand Jury Starts Review of 17 Cases

The September term of the Pickaway County Grand Jury convened today to consider 17 accusations against 16 persons.

The panel of 15 jurors was expected to complete their deliberations late this afternoon. Two of the cases under consideration are secret; one is a check charge and the other a sex offense.

Seating of the jury was accomplished about 10 a. m. today. Jurors began reviewing the cases and hearing testimony of witnesses behind locked doors.

Cary Blevins, John Fyffe and George Keaton, all of Circleville, are facing accusations of assault with a deadly weapon. The trio is accused of beating Harley R. Elder Jr. with a pool cue stick in a local tavern.

George H. Butler, Route 1, Chillicothe, was bound to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter. He was involved in an auto accident June 5, on the Westfall - Kinderhook Road in which Elmo Colter was killed.

Franklin Elwood Sollars, Williamsport, faces possible indictment for grand larceny. He is accused of stealing tires and a rifle valued at about $200 from the Dunlap Co., Williamsport.

Gene Giffin, 476 Dearborn Ave., faces a non-support accusation. His wife claims he has not supported his three minor children.

George Meadows, Clarksville, is accused of failing to provide for a pregnant woman.

David Carpenter, Circleville, also faces an accusation of failing to provide for his two minor children. Other non - support cases are: Harvey Lee Jordan, Route 1, Chillicothe, failure to provide for two minor children; Lawrence Boltenhouse, S. Scioto St., failure to provide for four minor children; Carl Large, Route 4, Chillicothe, failure to provide for two minor children; Paul Dunham, Route 8, Chillicothe, failure to provide for three minor children.

Charles E. Hampp, 613 Beaver Ave., faces two accusations. He is accused on one count of breaking and entering a building and on another count of grand larceny.

Serving on the grand jury are Thomas W. Purcell Jr., Earl E. Neff, Don J. Hedges, Ben Long, Paul Drummond, Cooke Metzger, Forrest C. Russell, Margaret Cook, Virginia Barnes, James Ford, George E. Hamman, Lucille Peters, John T. Larimer, Joyce Flowers and Edwin Walters.

Peking Is Seen Trying To Rile Up Russians

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China's actions and words these days suggest that the men now merging at the top of the heap in Peking consider Moscow a threat to their chances of nailing down and insuring their power.

Foreign Minister Chin Yi's statement in Peking about the possibility of talks with the United States. But it badly the statement by the Chinese ambassador in Warsaw, full of belligerence toward the Americans, are not so contradictory as they might seem.

It all seems to mean that the Peking regime does not want to get involved in war with the United States. But it badly needs an outside enemy to excuse internal measures. It could hardly do without the United States as an enemy now and apparently wants to add the Soviet Union to its list of foes for good measure.

Whoever controls Red China now — and Defense Minister Lin Piao seems to be calling the shots — the regime seems hell-bent for collision with Moscow. Meanwhile, around the Red world, everybody is getting into the act. Peking may be happily anticipating an all-Communist donnybrook of global proportions.

Communist parties in Europe now comment freely, frequently and acidly on Red Chinese antics. At the same time, all display worry that a contagion which has swept China might spread beyond its borders and prove, as the Bulgarian party said, "most dangerous" to Communist world aims.

The Bulgarian party, faithful echo of Moscow, warns that China's purge, which Peking calls "the great proletarian cultural revolution," might spread to other countries and "create difficulties in uniting the people's masses."

In Communist language, "people's masses" means Communist parties. The statement reflects Moscow's worry that more splintering and confusion are in prospect under the hammer blows from Peking.

Peking's latest official actions seem incomprehensible unless one considers a few probabilities:

— That there has been a strong pro-Moscow element in the Peking leadership and that the Kremlin must be represented as wholly wicked if the "anti-revisionist" leaders are to nail down their authority for good.

— That in the midst of the struggle and confusion in Red China, the emerging leadership wants to force Moscow to make the first move and take the blame for breaking the slender thread still holding the two together.

The latest sequence of events seems to make Moscow the main target of Peking's maneuvers. First, Foreign Minister Chen talked to Japanese visitors about Viet Nam talks, saying they didn't want to see the United States and China "come to clash." This seemed to spark hopes in Washington of a change in Peking's attitude toward negotiations on Viet Nam.

Then the Chinese ambassador in Warsaw, after one of his innumerable meetings with the U.S. ambassador, accused the Kremlin of "singing a duet" with Washington about U.S.-

Fire Officials Take Look at Empty Dwellings

Circleville Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe and F. C. McCaffery, an inspector of the State Fire Marshal's office, Wednesday conducted a routine investigation of unoccupied dwellings in the city.

Unoccupied buildings should be locked and the area surrounding them kept clean and free of weeds, Chief Wolfe said.

Owners of the buildings inspected yesterday have promised to comply with the requests, the chief added.

School Chief Misses Signup Guess by One

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Suburban Kettering schools opened Wednesday with enrollment just one above the 15,367 predicted last February by Asst. Supt. M. A. Wogaman.

"We're going to have to expel somebody," Wogaman joked. "I don't know where that one came from," he added.

Chinese reconciliation. Moscow had been needing China about those talks in Warsaw, the only point of U.S.-Chinese contact for years.

Hopes for a changed Peking attitude faded again. But there was no real conflict between Chen Yi's remarks and those of his envoy in Warsaw, Chen — and Mao Tse-tung himself — had spoken before about not wanting a clash with the Americans.

The Chinese ambassador would not act on his own. He had specific orders. Evidently the idea was to surround Peking's position and defend it from Soviet insinuations that the Chinese, after all, were not all that tough in facing up to the Americans.

Since there has been no real change in attitude, there emerges a picture of the Kremlin and all "revisionists" as the main targets of such goings-on. One can surmise that Peking really wants a final rupture and is working hard to prod Moscow's patience to the breaking point.

N.Y. Liberal Party Plans To Tap FDR Jr. for Race

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Frank D. O'Connor, trying to become New York's first Democratic governor since 1953, faced vote-cutting opposition today from a Liberal party ticket headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

O'Connor, pledging a "mighty effort" to unseat Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, smashed his way to a first-ballot victory at a nominating convention in Buffalo Wednesday night.

Woman Held For Jury in Entry Case

A 23-year-old Batavia woman charged by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff with aiding and abetting a burglary, entered a plea of guilty today in a preliminary hearing held in Circleville Municipal Court.

Donna Louise Partin was apprehended Wednesday by the sheriff's department west of Circleville near Contractors and Industrial Supply, Inc. an implement firm.

Shortly before her apprehension, a burglary was discovered at the firm.

Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb bound Mrs. Partin, mother of four children, to the Pickaway County Grand Jury. He set bond at $5,000.

SHERIFF Dwight Radcliff has filed charges of burglary against her husband, Eugene Leo Partin. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Authorities believe it was Partin who was seen driving a garden tractor along Route 56 near the implement firm. However, he fled and has not been apprehended by authorities.

A tractor, believed stolen earlier this summer from Marshall Implement, Route 2, was recovered at the Partin home in Batavia, Sheriff Radcliff said.

Stock Prices Still Falling

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market deepened its losses in routine trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks fell from fractions to more than a point along a broad front.

The more volatile glamor stocks stretched some losses to several points.

The market headed lower after a mixed opening. Without any particular selling pressure, prices gave ground.

Rent Supplement Bill OKd by LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed an appropriations bill which includes rent supplements for poor families, and he said it means thousands of families "can now give their children a rainfree roof and a ratproof bedroom."

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers, making public a Johnson statement on the bill, said the President signed the measure Tuesday night.

The bill provides $14 billion to finance a score of independent government agencies for the fiscal year that ends next June 30.

4-H Session Scheduled For Sunday

Advisers, junior leaders and parents connected with 4-H activity in Pickaway, Clinton, Fayette and Madison Counties will have an opportunity to participate in a training program on child development, family economics and home furnishing projects.

The training session has been scheduled for Sept. 12 at the First Presbyterian Church in Washington C. H. The program will start at 7:30 p. m. and last until 9:30. Advisers and junior leaders are urged to take part.

Instructors for the sessions are: child development — Mrs. Beulah M. Hill, Clinton County home economics agent; family economics — Geraldine Olson, Extension specialist; home furnishings — Doris Snook, Extension specialist.

Purpose of the program is to assist 4-H advisers to gain a better understanding of subject matter to be taught in these project fields, and to gain knowledge of teaching methods.

Persons desiring more information may contact the Extension office at 137 W. Franklin St.

liberate and premeditated" from the original indictment and changing the word "malice" to "maliciously."

Judge McMahon overruled Bailey's objection to use of an amended indictment which Bailey regarded as a "potential snag" for future proceedings. The judge said, "There's no question that this (second degree) is a lesser included offense."

Corrigan had pointed out that a first - degree charge, which carries a death penalty unless the jury makes it a life sentence by recommending mercy, embodies the second-degree charge. Conviction on second - degree murder carries a life term with eligibility for paroles after 10 years.

Sheppard, 42, was convicted of second - degree murder by a jury in December, 1954, after a long trial. He had sought parole, but was denied.

He won release on a habeas corpus action in a ruling by U.S. District Judge Carl A. Weinman in Dayton. The judge ruled that Sheppard's rights to a fair trial under the 14th Amendment had been violated.

Sheppard was released on bond from the penitentiary while the State of Ohio appealed the ruling by Judge Weinman, but the U.S. Supreme Court upheld his decision last June 6.

Judge Weinman returned the case to Ohio jurisdiction and ordered an arraignment for September 8 after Corrigan had decided Sheppard should be retried.

Before Sheppard, tanned with a short crew cut and wearing a light green suit and bright green striped tie, spoke his "not guilty" Bailey established with Judge McMahon that the plea to the indictment was being made "without waiving any rights to attacking its defects" later.

When bond was set, Bailey requested that Sheppard be given privileges to travel outside Ohio, including visits for conferences at Bailey's offices in Boston, Corrigan said he had "no objection to his going to Boston or anywhere."

The judge then granted Bailey's request to give Sheppard out-of-state travel privileges on bond.

Area Schools Fully Staffed

Pickaway County Schools are fully staffed, according to George D. McDowell, county superintendent.

However, McDowell said a commercial teacher could be used at Logan Elm High School.

"By doubling up some assignments, we will be able to teach every course offered on the schedule," the county superintendent announced.

He pointed out that local schools were fortunate to get all the necessary teachers because of the statewide shortage of elementary and secondary instructors.

Man Fined $100 On Morals Count

Milton Howsman, 29, of 622 Clinton St., was fined $100 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court and handed a 90 day suspended jail sentence.

Howsman was cited for indecent exposure by Circleville Patrolman Wesley Barton. In addition, he was cited for disturbing the peace.

Judge Sterling M. Lamb levied a $50 fine on the latter charge. He placed Howsman on probation for a three year period.

Fined $50 and costs for disorderly conduct was Guy E. Buskirk, 420 John St.

September Term Grand Jury Starts Review of 17 Cases

The September term of the Pickaway County Grand Jury convened today to consider 17 accusations against 16 persons.

The panel of 15 jurors was expected to complete their deliberations late this afternoon. Two of the cases under consideration are secret; one is a check charge and the other a sex offense.

Seating of the jury was accomplished about 10 a. m. today. Jurors began reviewing the cases and hearing testimony of witnesses behind locked doors.

Cary Blevins, John Fyffe and George Keaton, all of Circleville, are facing accusations of assault with a deadly weapon. The trio is accused of beating Harley R. Elder Jr. with a pool cue stick in a local tavern.

George H. Butler, Route 1, Chillicothe, was bound to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter. He was involved in an auto accident June 5, on the Westfall - Kinderhook Road in which Elmo Colter was killed.

Franklin Elwood Sollars, Williamsport, faces possible indictment for grand larceny. He is accused of stealing tires and a rifle valued at about $200 from the Dunlap Co., Williamsport.

Gene Giffin, 476 Dearborn Ave., faces a non-support accusation. His wife claims he has not supported his three minor children.

George Meadows, Clarksburg, is accused of failing to provide for a pregnant woman.

David Carpenter, Circleville, also faces an accusation of failing to provide for his two minor children. Other non - support cases are: Harvey Lee Jordan, Route 1, Chillicothe, failure to provide for two minor children; Lawrence Boltenhouse, S. Scio to St., failure to provide for four minor children; Carl Large, Route 4, Chillicothe, failure to provide for two minor children; Paul Dunham, Route 8, Chillicothe, failure to provide for three minor children.

Charles E. Hamp, 613 Beaver Ave., faces two accusations. He is accused on one count of breaking and entering a building and on another count of grand larceny.

Serving on the grand jury are Thomas W. Purcell Jr., Earl E. Neff, Don J. Hedges, Ben Long, Paul Drummond, Cooke Metzger, Forrest C. Russell, Margaret Cook, Virginia Barnes, James Ford, George E. Hamman, Lucille Peters, John T. Larimer, Joyce Flowers and Edwin Walters.

Peking Is Seen Trying To Rile Up Russians

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China's actions and words these days suggest that the men now merging at the top of the heap in Peking consider Moscow a threat to their chances of nailing down and insuring their power.

Foreign Minister Chin Yi's statement in Peking about the possibility of talks with the United States. But it badly needs an outside enemy to excuse internal measures. It could hardly do without the United States as an enemy now and apparently wants to add the Soviet Union to its list of foes for good measure.

Whoever controls Red China now — and Defense Minister Lin Biao seems to be calling the shots — the regime seems hell-bent for collision with Moscow. Meanwhile, around the Red world, everybody is getting into the act. Peking may be happily anticipating an all-Communist donnybrook of global proportions.

Communist parties in Europe now comment freely, frequently and acidly on Red Chinese antics. At the same time, all display worry that a contagion which has swept China might spread beyond its borders and prove, as the Bulgarian party said, "most dangerous" to Communist world aims.

The Bulgarian party, faithful echo of Moscow, warns that China's purge, which Peking calls "the great proletarian cultural revolution," might spread to other countries and "create difficulties in uniting the people's masses." In Communist language, "people's masses" means Communist parties. The statement reflects Moscow's worry that more splintering and confusion are in prospect under the hammer blows from Peking.

Peking's latest official actions seem incomprehensible unless one considers a few probabilities: — That there has been a strong pro-Moscow element in the Peking leadership and that the Kremlin must be represented as wholly wicked if the "antirevisionist" leaders are to nail down their authority for good. — That in the midst of the struggle and confusion in Red China, the emerging leadership wants to force Moscow to make the first move and take the blame for breaking the slender thread still holding the two together.

The latest sequence of events seems to make Moscow the main target of Peking's maneuvers. First, Foreign Minister Chen talked to Japanese visitors about Viet Nam talks, saying they didn't want to see the United States and China "come to clash." This seemed to spark hopes in Washington of a change in Peking's attitude toward negotiations on Viet Nam.

Then the Chinese ambassador in Warsaw, after one of his innumerable meetings with the U.S. ambassador, accused the Kremlin of "singing a duet" with Washington about U.S.-

Fire Officials Take Look at Empty Dwellings

Circleville Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe and F. C. McCaffery, an inspector of the State Fire Marshal's office, Wednesday conducted a routine investigation of unoccupied dwellings in the city.

Unoccupied buildings should be locked and the area surrounding them kept clean and free of weeds, Chief Wolfe said. Owners of the buildings inspected yesterday have promised to comply with the requests, the chief added.

Maumee Conservancy Plans Are Expanded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Maumee Watershed Conservancy Court has added four projects to the $5.5 million improvement plan for the Little Auglaize River Watershed. These include channel improvement to Dog Creek, the Upper Little Auglaize, Upper Prairie Creek and Hagerman Creek, a total of about 50 miles.

School Chief Misses Signup Guess by One

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Suburban Kettering schools opened Wednesday with enrollment just one above the 15,367 predicted last February by Asst. Supt. M. A. Wogaman.

"We're going to have to expel somebody," Wogaman joked. "I don't know where that one came from," he added.

Chinese reconciliation. Moscow had been needing China about those talks in Warsaw, the only point of U.S.-Chinese contact for years.

Hopes for a changed Peking attitude faded again. But there was no real conflict between Chen Yi's remarks and those of his envoy in Warsaw, Chen — and Mao Tze-tung himself — had spoken before about not wanting a clash with the Americans.

The Chinese ambassador would not act on his own. He had specific orders. Evidently the idea was to surround Peking's position and defend it from Soviet insinuations that the Chinese, after all, were not all that tough in facing up to the Americans.

Since there has been on real change in attitude, there emerges a picture of the Kremlin and all "revisionists" as the main targets of such goings-on. One can surmise that Peking really wants a final rupture and is working hard to prod Moscow's patience to the breaking point.

N.Y. Liberal Party Plans To Tap FDR Jr. for Race

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Frank D. O'Connor, trying to become New York's first Democratic governor since 1953, faced vote-cutting opposition today from a Liberal party ticket headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

O'Connor, pledging a "mighty effort" to unseat Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, smashed his way to a first-ballot victory at a nominating convention in Buffalo Wednesday night.

Drawing heavily on votes from upstate New York delegates, tions, O'Connor, 56, president of the New York City Council, hurried past his only opponent on the convention floor, millionaire businessman Howard Samuels of Canandaigua.

Rockefeller, seeking his third term, is assured of nomination at the Republican convention in Rochester tonight. He seemed certain to benefit by Roosevelt's acceptance late Wednesday of an invitation to run for governor on the Liberal party's ticket.

The Liberals, a splinter group that broke away from the Democratic gubernatorial fold for the first time in its 22-year history, meet in New York tonight to make the nomination formal.

Alex Rose, Liberal party chairman, said the party's own poll, taken about 10 days ago, showed that O'Connor would defeat Gov. Rockefeller and splinter party candidates by about 600,000 votes, despite the Roosevelt candidacy.

His comment came in reply to a newsman's question asking if Roosevelt's candidacy would wreck O'Connor's chances and insure Rockefeller's re-election. "No," Rose said, adding, "of course (O'Connor) might kick it away in the campaign. But our intention is not to ruin O'Connor or the Democrats. We are fighting for principles."

Roosevelt withdrew two weeks ago as an active campaigner for the Democratic nomination, contending that the party's nomination was boss-controlled. He charged that the nomination had been promised to O'Connor a year ago.

In accepting the Liberals' offer, Roosevelt said he was doing so as "an independent Democrat."

The Liberals usually draw from 250,000 to 350,000 votes, more than enough to make serious inroads in a close fight.

Woman Held For Jury in Entry Case

A 23-year-old Batavia woman charged by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff with aiding and abetting a burglary, entered a plea of guilty during a preliminary hearing today in Circleville Municipal Court.

Donna Louise Partin was apprehended Wednesday by the sheriff's department west of Circleville near Contractors and Industrial Supply, Inc. an implement firm.

Shortly before her apprehension, a burglary was discovered at the firm.

Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb bound Mrs. Partin, mother of four children, to the Pickaway County Grand Jury. He set bond at $5,000.

SHERIFF Dwight Radcliff has filed charges of burglary against her husband, Eugene Leo Partin. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Authorities believe it was Partin who was seen driving a garden tractor along Route 56 near the implement firm. However, he fled and has not been apprehended by authorities.

A tractor, believed stolen earlier this summer from Marshall Implement, Route 2, was recovered at the Partin home in Batavia, Sheriff Radcliff said.

Stock Prices Still Falling

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market deepened its losses in routine trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks fell from fractions to more than a point along a broad front.

The more volatile glamor stocks stretched some losses to several points.

The market headed lower after a mixed opening. Without any particular selling pressure, prices gave ground.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 9.08 at 768.31.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Our daughter is 15 years old. She travels in school with a group of children who smoke. She has asked us for permission (I really believe she smokes already).

My husband says absolutely no but I say yes because it makes her look so cute.

Mrs. J.E.B. New York
Dear Mrs. B.: I have read your letter four times and still do not believe my eyes. It is almost inconceivable that the health and educational campaigns in schools, in magazines and in newspapers has not left any impression on you about the disadvantages of smoking cigarettes.

It is unfortunate that young teenagers travel in packs and mimic each other's activities. Smoking is a status symbol of a questionable distinction. You can be sure that your daughter will start with the occasional cigarette and before long graduate to the "pack a day."

Once a person has acquired the full blown cigarette habit it becomes exceedingly difficult to break it, as you probably know. The only hope that youngsters will not be caught in the cigarette trap is to make them understand that they are no being punished but rather encouraged to understand the disadvantages of smoking.

It is an established fact that parents should agree about the solution of any of the problems of their children. A divided attitude serves only to confuse them.

It is difficult to believe that the lovely, graceful teenage youthfulness can be enhanced by a dangling cigarette hanging from the tar-stained lips and teeth. My suggestion, if I may, is that you inquire into your own reasons why you are encouraging your child to smoke.

It would be most interesting if you were to accumulate the opinions of her teachers and learn that "smokers and drop-outs" are a very frequent combination.

One medical question has been hard for me to understand and that is the reasons why an embolism results in sudden death to a patient who is recovering remarkably well after surgery. My brother died at the age of 17 after a "successful appendectomy." Can the surgeon tell when and if an embolism will occur?

Mrs. D.C.R., Pennsylvania
Dear Mrs. R.: This is one of the saddest experiences that can happen in medicine and in surgery. An embolism is a small piece of a blood clot that suddenly breaks away and travels through the entire body, sometimes landing in the brain or the lung.

There is no way that a surgeon can anticipate that this will happen unless he knows that there is a clot in the legs or in some other part of the body.

Fortunately, patients are now ordered out of bed within 24 to 48 hours after major surgery. This has remarkably reduced the hazard of an embolism.

Breakfast is not a good time for dieting.

You're Telling Me!

Arkansas may import some of Manitoba's surplus black bears in hopes they'll kill off some of the many wild boars which have been doing considerable forest damage in that state. That's pretty rugged medicine.

Some 50 girls who danced at New York's Hollywood Restaurant 30 years ago plan to hold a reunion. That'll be quite a handsome turnout.

A nag named Can He Run won an Atlantic City race, paying $12 for $2. He certainly can — and did!

A mocking bird is capable of singing several dozen different tunes — Factograph item. Ah — a juke box with feathers! And, some folk would be quick to add, much preferred to the mechanical kind.

The village of Cherraponjee, India, has an annual rainfall of 493 inches. To natives, sunshine must be just so much hearsay.

With today's children becoming taller than their parents, as has been revealed by recent studies, it's no wonder, says Grandpappy Jenkins, that Pa and Ma find it difficult to maintain the upper hand.

LAFF-A-DAY

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THERE'S a scrawny little shrimp who's amassed a fortune in Hollywood, but didn't cut a very imposing figure when, as a newly commissioned captain in World War II, he was put in command of a tough infantry company. The first time he addressed his men, in fact, a voice from the rear piped up, "And a little child shall lead them."

There was a roar of laughter. The captain pretended he hadn't heard—but the following morning this notice appeared on the bulletin board: "Company A will take a 25-mile hike today with full packs. And a little child shall lead them—riding a big, white horse."

The famous lawyer Clarence Darrow once won a very tough case for a beautiful client, and as they walked out of court into the sunshine she fluttered her eyelashes at him and cooed, "How can I ever show my gratitude?" "My dear young lady," replied Darrow gallantly, "ever since the Phoenicians invented money, there has been only one sound answer to that question."

SIGNS OF THE DAY:
Outside the office of a brand new doctor: "Small fevers gratefully received."
On the window of T. Ginsberg's Delicatessen: "Mr. Ginsberg himself eats here."
On the lawn of an antique shop: "Come in and buy what your grandmother threw out."

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO
The Grandview Construction Co. of Columbus was awarded a contract to build a post office at New Holland.

The Wednesday Morning Special Sales held by city merchants was termed a success.

Robert Wood, 501 N. Pickaway St., assumed the post of county treasurer.

TEN YEARS AGO
Ted Moon became Pickaway Country Club men's champion by dropping Don Olney in final competition.

The 1956 edition of the Pickaway County Fair began.

Everett Beers was elected worthy master by Nebraska Grange members.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Ed Wolfe was first place winner with a total of 42 books read during the summer in the Vacation Reading Club.

A wind storm which raged through the city put 600 telephones out of commission.

Circleville city school enrollment for the first day showed a decrease of 36 pupils in comparison to opening day the previous year.

Stooping to Forgery?

This column has always been skeptical of the conspiracy theory of history. But what is one to make of the common element in the several "get-'em-out-of-there" cases that have recently been making the headlines from Washington?

First, there was the drive to get Otto Otepka out of his job as security evaluator in the State Department. Then came the big whoop-de-doo about Senator Tom Dodd's finances. While Otepka and Dodd were baring their breasts to the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune, there was a continual sniping at Tom Mann, the Latin American expert who had been shifted over to the position of handling world economic problems for Secretary of State Dean Rusk. And, just recently, Frances Knight, the competent head of the State Department passport division (she gets a passport for you in three days where it used to take up to six weeks), has had to put up with a spate of criticism that painted her as the ghost of Senator Joe McCarthy incarnate in a fighting hellcat.

What is interesting, and possibly significant, is that Otepka, Dodd, Tom Mann, and Frances Knight are all anti-Communists. Make what you will of it, this is a verifiable fact. While it would be easy to leap to the conclusion that there is a common "staff work" behind the several persecutions, one does not have actually to go that far. "Liberals" who are anti-anti-Communist have an uncanny ability to "get the line" without any rignmarole of prior consultation or briefing from a headquarters.

The Otepka and Dodd cases have been well publicized. The Mann case did not make so great a stir because Thomas Mann, a great gentleman, stoically put up with the pinpricks and innuendos until he could take it no longer, whereupon he quietly resigned to do some writing. The Frances Knight case is currently boiling, but Miss Knight seems to have a constitution of well-tempered steel behind her pleasant exterior, and it is the bet of this column that she will break the pattern and outlast her enemies. Women can be tougher than men, thank Heaven.

The most recent attack on Frances Knight involved a claim that she had written a letter to FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover on March 21, 1966, about an alleged FBI request that the passport division help run a surveillance on Harvard Professor H. Stuart Hughes while he was traveling abroad. Miss Knight was represented as writing to Hoover that she had received several telephone calls from reporters asking details about the Hughes business.

"I am seriously afraid," so Miss Knight was represented as saying, "that this interest may indicate preparations for a sustained press campaign against us. We have already discussed the attitude of the Secretary of State toward this long-established practice of the department making inquiries at the request of the FBI. I cannot help expressing to you the alarm I feel at various pointers which, to my mind, show clearly that he is looking for suitable pretexts to put an end to this practice."

Any such letter might have indicated collusion between J. Edgar Hoover and the passport division to shadow Professor Hughes, who has opposed the Administration's Vietnamese War policy. Miss Knight has denounced the letter as a forgery. Furthermore, J. Edgar Hoover says he never received any such letter. And it turns out that the alleged conspiracy to snoop on Stuart Hughes was nothing more than a routine FBI request to the State Department to forward to it any newspaper clippings about Hughes' trip abroad. The FBI, you see, likes to keep up with what Pravda and Izvestia may be saying about Americans who go against Administration policy. But this is a rather ordinary duty of any bureau of investigation worth its salt. It could hardly be dignified as a "special" surveillance.

Since copies of the letter with the alleged signature of Miss Knight were anonymously distributed, the culprit may never be discovered. But this sort of campaign against an efficient public servant who happens to be an anti-Communist, must surely backfire. It is obvious that Miss Knight isn't going to roll over and play dead.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLMAN, M.D.

Our daughter is 15 years old. She travels in school with a group of children who smoke. She has asked us for permission (I really believe she smokes already). My husband says absolutely no but I say yes because it makes her look so cute.

Mrs. J.E.B. New York

Dear Mrs. B.: I have read your letter four times and still do not believe my eyes. It is almost inconceivable that the health and educational campaigns in schools, in magazines and in newspapers has not left any impression on you about the disadvantages of smoking cigarettes.

It is unfortunate that young teenagers travel in packs and mimic each other's activities. Smoking is a status symbol of a questionable distinction. You can be sure that your daughter will start with the occasional cigarette and before long graduate to the "pack a day."

Once a person has acquired the full blown cigarette habit it becomes exceedingly difficult to break it, as you probably know. The only hope that young

Land Negotiations Study Continues

Sheep and animal claims totaling $119.95 were approved this week by the Pickaway County Commissioners.

Payment was authorized to four persons filing claims during the past quarter. Witness fees were included in the approved expenditure.

In other business, the solons approved the purchase of a diesel mowing unit for the Pickaway County Engineer's Department. Acquired from the local Hill Implement Co., the purchase cost was listed at $6,229.54.

Commissioner Charles Morris Jr. opposed the purchase on the grounds the vehicle would not be used enough during the year to warrant the expenditure. Solons Wayne Hines and Lloyd Melvin cast affirmative votes.

ACCORDING to the commissioners, Prosecutor Robert H. Huffer is still conducting a research relative to land acquisition for airport purposes.

The solons are in the process of negotiating with the Croman family to obtain about 15 acres in the vicinity of the Pickaway County Home farm on Route 22 for an airport site. The Cromans have indicated they would be willing to trade land.

Huffer is concentrating his study on state statutes concerning what steps the county can legally follow in negotiating for land.

43,700 Face Draft In November

WASHINGTON (AP)—The pentagon has announced a draft call of 43,700 men in November and a boost to 49,200 men for October, 3,000 over the originally announced figure.

At the same time, the Defense Department said induction standards will be lowered effective Oct. 1 to get under way Secretary Robert S. McNamara's program for training 40,000 men this year who could not meet previous requirements.

The 3,000-man increase in the October draft call raised the manpower request close to the 53,000 called in May 1953 as the Korean War approached an end.

Peak calls during the Korean conflict reached 80,000 a month. All men drafted in October and November will be assigned to the Army.

The Pentagon said it expects a substantially lower draft call in December when Army training operations "will be scheduled to avoid the entrance of new inductees into active duty during the holiday season." This month, 37,300 men are being drafted. The September draft call also had been revised upward by 6,000 men over the figure announced last month.

Board Okays Sheep Claims

Land Negotiations Study Continues

Sheep and animal claims totaling $119.95 were approved this week by the Pickaway County Commissioners.

Payment was authorized to four persons filing claims during the past quarter. Witness fees were included in the approved expenditure.

In other business, the solons approved the purchase of a diesel mowing unit for the Pickaway County Engineer's Department. Acquired from the local Hill Implement Co., the purchase cost was listed at $6,229.54.

Commissioner Charles Morris Jr. opposed the purchase on the grounds the vehicle would not be used enough during the year to warrant the expenditure. Solons Wayne Hines and Lloyd Melvin cast affirmative votes.

ACCORDING to the commissioners, Prosecutor Robert H. Huffer is still conducting a research relative to land acquisition for airport purposes.

The solons are in the process of negotiating with the Croman family to obtain about 15 acres in the vicinity of the Pickaway County Home farm on Route 22 for an airport site. The Cromans have indicated they would be willing to trade land.

Huffer is concentrating his study on state statutes concerning what steps the county can legally follow in negotiating for land.

Azbell, Gallagher Vows Exchanged in Chillicothe

MR. AND MRS. LLOYD P. GALLAGHER

Miss Donna Marlene Azbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Azbell, Route 1, Stoutsville, and Mr. Lloyd Patrick Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Gallagher, Chillicothe, exchanged wedding vows July 30 at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church, Chillicothe.

The Rev. Stanley Dunkle, uncle of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with two pedestal vases of gladioli, pompons and foliage.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by the Rev. Joe Crouse vocalist, and Mr. Donald Metzler, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie with a bell-shaped skirt and a fitted overblouse of Chantilly lace and a detachable panel train. She wore a veil of silk illusion that was caught to a cluster of lace rose petals and leaves. Her only jewelry was a wedding bell pendant with a diamond clasper, a gift of the bridegroom. Her cascade bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley were centered on a white Bible.

Miss Phyllis Butterbaugh was the maid of honor. She wore an ankle-length gown of pink cotton and silk. The dress was fashioned with short sleeves and softly pleated skirts. She also wore a matching pillbox with veiling, and her only piece of jewelry was an ivory rose with gold petals, a gift of the bride. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink carnations and foliage.

Miss Wilma Woodworth and Mrs. Richard Cunningham were the bridesmaids. Their costumes were identical to that of the maid of honor except they carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations. Their jewelry consisted of a plain ivory rose, a gift of the bride.

Tammy Mith, niece of the groom, was the flower girl. Mr. Richard Cunningham served as the best man. Ushers were Mr. Gary Warner, Mr. Warner J. Roush, and Mr. Emmitt Collins.

The bride's mother wore an aqua knit dress with white accessories and a pink corsage of rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a blue linen and lace dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Hinton Reunion Conducted at Tar Hollow

The Hinton Reunion was observed at Tar Hollow State Park.

Present were Mr. Dan Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cook and family of Williamsport, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bolender and family of Lockbourne, Mr. James Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Disterdick, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. Mayhon Breck and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hinton and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Ferrell and family of Marion, Mr. Robert Hinton and daughter of Huston, Tex.;

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hinton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Damon Crosby and family of Laurelville, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith and family of Adelphi, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hinton and family of Londonderry, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. William Schleich and Debby, Mr. and Mrs. James Hinton and Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hinton and Brad and Tannie, all of Circleville.

Family Dinner Marks Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Fausnaugh, Stoutsville, were honored guests at a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noble E. Barr, 160 Town St.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Seimer, Mr. and Mrs. Neil A. Seimer of Lancaster and Mrs. Viola Seimer of Amanda. A delightful surprise came by way of a phone call from their grandson, Robert L. Seimer, who called from Ft. Campbell, Ky., to wish them a happy anniversary.

Open House Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Remy, Route 1, New Holland, will observe their 25th wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday from 2-5 p. m. Their three children will host the event.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Let It Happen to You

DEAR ABBY: Last night I went to sleep with the pillow over my ears to drown out the noise of my parents' quarreling. I am the oldest of six and I feel sort of responsible for the younger ones. My folks have been fighting ever since I can remember.

They fight about little things, like who put gas in the car last, and also over big things like money, and my father's not spending enough time with my little brothers.

Abby, this is giving me a nervous stomach because they fight a lot at the supper table. What can a 14-year-old girl do?

SICK OF FIGHTING
DEAR SICK: The only thing you can do, honey, is to remember it. And make sure you don't give your children the same kind of unpleasant memories.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "insulted" wasn't fair. It was in response to guests who complained because the guest room they were offered was poorly furnished. "They obviously do not want guests," you said.

After all, some families cannot obtain everything at once. We have a $500 bed (I am six feet, seven inches tall and weigh 250 pounds), but we have a $17 roll-away bed in our "guest room," which also doubles as a study with books stacked in every corner. We enjoy having guests, but have not had the funds to furnish our guest room as we would like.

Someday we will have better accommodations. But in the meantime, I hope our visits together will make up for their having to sleep on a roll-away bed in a crowded room.

ONE OF YOUR EDITORS

DEAR EDITOR: Sorry about that, boss, but the guest wrote, they have a beautiful, push-button home with every modern convenience imaginable. There is nothing too good for them or their children." From that, I inferred it was not so much a shortage of cash, but consideration. I could have been wrong.

DEAR ABBY: Although we are past 60, we have been married only a few years. This question has come up several times and we are both rather puzzled about what is proper.

When my husband and I take a single woman in our car for a ride, where should she sit? Between my husband and me? Or next to the car door and let me sit by my husband?

Also when we are walking down the street, should my husband walk between the two of us, or should he walk on the outside with me next to him, and the other lady on the inside, next to me?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: In the car, you should sit next to your husband. While walking, be a little more generous and "share" your husband with the other lady. It will enable him to assist both of you, should either stumble.

Mrs. Foos Honored at Lawn Shower

Mrs. Robert Foos (Myra Ralston) was the guest of honor Tuesday evening at a bridal shower given on the lawn of Mrs. Johnny Hampt, Kingston.

Pink and white decorations were used on the gift table with an umbrella and large white bells. A bride doll and candles centered the refreshment table where punch, fruit salad, cookies, nuts and mints were served.

Games were played and won by Anna Lee Fellenstein, Nancy Carroll and the honored guest.

Attending were Mrs. John Ralston, Mrs. Tom Snyder, Mrs. Gary Scott, Miss Sherrie Knisley, Miss Janie Sims, Miss Linda Edwards, Miss Diana Routt, Miss Ann Kerns.

Sending gifts were Mrs. Sheryl Overly, Miss Charlotte Hartsock and Mrs. Rufus Kerns.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Let It Happen to You

DEAR ABBY: Last night I went to sleep with the pillow over my ears to drown out the noise of my parents' quarreling. I am the oldest of six and I feel sort of responsible for the younger ones. My folks have been fighting ever since I can remember.

They fight about little things, like who put gas in the car last, and also over big things like money, and my father's not spending enough time with my little brothers.

Abby, this is giving me a nervous stomach because they fight a lot at the supper table. What can a 14-year-old girl do?

SICK OF FIGHTING
DEAR SICK: The only thing you can do, honey, is to remember it. And make sure you don't give your children the same kind of unpleasant memories.

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: In the car, you should sit next to your husband. While walking, be a little more generous and "share" your husband with the other lady. It will enable him to assist both of you, should either stumble.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "insulted" wasn't fair. It was in response to guests who complained because the guest room they were offered was poorly furnished. "They obviously do not want guests," you said.

After all, some families cannot obtain everything at once. We have a $500 bed (I am six feet, seven inches tall and weigh 250 pounds), but we have a $17 roll-away bed in our "guest room," which also doubles as a study with books stacked in every corner. We enjoy having guests, but have not had the funds to furnish our guests room as we would like.

Someday we will have better accommodations. But in the meantime, I hope our visits together will make up for their having to sleep on a roll-away bed in a crowded room.

ONE OF YOUR EDITORS

DEAR EDITOR: Sorry about that, boss, but the guest wrote, they have a beautiful, push-button home with every modern convenience imaginable. There is nothing too good for them or their children." From that, I inferred it was not so much a shortage of cash, but considera-

Mrs. Foos Honored at Lawn Shower

Mrs. Robert Foos (Myra Ralston) was the guest of honor Tuesday evening at a bridal shower given on the lawn of Mrs. Johnny Hampt, Kingston.

Pink and white decorations were used on the gift table with an umbrella and large white bells. A bride doll and candles centered the refreshment table where punch, fruit salad, cookies, nuts and mints were served.

Games were played and won by Anna Lee Fellenstein, Nancy Carroll and the honored guest.

Attending were Mrs. John Ralston, Mrs. Tom Snyder, Mrs. Gary Scott, Miss Sherrie Knisley, Miss Janie Sims, Miss Linda Edwards, Miss Diana Routt, Miss Ann Kerns.

Sending gifts were Mrs. Sheryl Overly, Miss Charlotte Hartsock and Mrs. Rufus Kerns.

CASTING VOTES FROM ABROAD — Some people have all the luck and 1st Lt. Robert C. Richards, 7373rd Hospital Squadron Commander, finds his job of unit voting officer easy and eye appealing as he helps three of the U.S. Air Force's hospital nurses fill out their applications for absentee ballots for the November election. The applicants are, left to right: 1st Lts. Caroline M. Blomberg, Rita J. Binkley and Janice A. Stark. 1st Binkley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Binkley, 158 Watt St. The hospital squadron, based in France, is slated for assignment to Germany.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, campaigning for the Democrats like a man running for his own re-election, already has laid out the two themes he will hit hardest in this congressional election season.

Both were obvious before he began — the war in Viet Nam and the national economy — since they are the two problems uppermost in the public mind.

But it is the energy he has displayed so far — in spinning around the country, in the number of speeches he has made and the number of places he has visited, and the endless handshaking — that is impressive.

But there is also an obvious reason for the energy, besides his party loyalty.

If he hopes to be chosen for a second term in 1968, his foundation stone will be the number and the scope of his programs he can get through Congress between now and then.

The more Democrats he has in Congress to help him, the better his chances. So his whirlwind politicking so far this year and for the rest of it, will have the long-range effect of campaigning for himself two years ahead of time.

In the House, where all 435 seats are at stake, the count now is 294 Democrats to 139 Republicans, with one vacancy in each party. That huge majority, if it can be retained, is Johnson's best hope for the future.

Publicly Republicans have been forecasting a gain this year of 40 or more seats. They used to talk of a gain of 30 but have worked their way up. But what they say in public is not necessarily what some of the best informed among them say in private. They're reluctant to be that optimistic.

In the Senate, Democrats outnumber Republicans 67 to 33, with 35 seats at stake in the election. In the Senate there may not be a shift of more than two seats in either direction. But for Johnson — and no President has ever paid closer attention to what every member of Congress did, does or is likely to do — every vote counts.

This explains the energy, the trips, the handshaking. But getting out among the crowds, and being applauded, is probably a therapeutic reassurance to Johnson's ego, since opinion polls have shown him dropping in public approval.

What he says on Viet Nam has not varied very much and probably will not unless there is an unforeseen change. It can be stated briefly.

This country is in Viet Nam to stop Communist aggression against a neighbor and this country will stay there until the Reds give up trying to overwhelm their neighbor.

It's in the economic field that he can play a lot of variations on the same theme, as he showed in his speeches on Labor Day in the Middle West.

He promised to fight inflation, he explained how he was wrestling with the problem of holding prices without stifling economic growth, promised to help labor get rid of laws banning the union shop and at the same time appealed to labor to show restraint in seeking wage increases.

At the same time he hammered into his listeners' heads that this country has never been so prosperous as under the Democrats.

If there is a tax increase, it almost surely won't come until after the election.

Johnson has a number of times spoken forthrightly on the race problem but not much in his campaigning.

If the riots continue, he will have to get into that in some depth, and it's a touchy field, since the Negro vote is important to the Democrats. But so is the white vote. He may have his hands full before this is over.

Negro Solon Gives Nod to Black Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — A concept of black power as a nationwide mobilization of Negroes to increase their political and economic strength was endorsed Wednesday by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell.

Reporting on plans for a national conference on black power to be held here Oct. 15, the Negro Democrat from New York's Harlem indicated a willingness to lead what he called the new phase of the civil rights movement if he is asked.

One thing is certain, he said at a news conference — the phase of the movement that led to passage of civil rights legislation is dead, and so are its leaders.

Asked where Martin Luther King Jr., Roy Wilkins, and other present Negro leaders fit into the black power movement, Powell replied: "Right now, I'd say they are praying."

Julius Hobson, head of a militant Washington, D.C., Negro organization, and chairman of the group arranging for next month's black power conference, had a sharper answer.

"Up to now the movement has been saddled with Uncle Toms and black lackeys of the whites," Hobson said. "If we do nothing else we're going to get rid of them."

Hobson declined to name any of the leaders he was referring to, but added: "You know them — the softspoken, pasteurized Negroes, the people who for a handful of silver and a ribbon to put in their coats sold out their people."

350 Carpenters Strike Job at Armco Plant

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Approximately 350 carpenters, employees of Kaiser Engineers, Inc., were on strike today following a jurisdictional dispute on a $350 million expansion project at Armco Steel Corp.

Kaiser Engineers are prime contractors for the project. A spokesman said the dispute concerned removal of wooden shoring or framing along storm-sewer culverts and that carpenters had protested because common laborers were permitted to do their work.

No Cure Yet Known for Emphysema, But Some Hospitals Provide Relief

EDITOR'S NOTE — Emphysema is a disease of the lungs, a disease rapidly becoming one of the country's worst cripplers. There is no drug or cure for emphysema, but some hospitals are finding success in rehabilitating and helping victims. Here is the third in a four-part series on the ailment.

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — In a laboratory within sight of the Rockies' foothills there's a mechanical apparatus that looks and sounds like a prop for a chiller movie on the late, late late TV show.

It's a breathing exhibit of two human lungs taken from the bodies of dead men, but now working for science.

Encased in a glass chamber, and powered by an airflow pump, the two bodyless lungs hang side by side and alternately inflate and deflate — swell and droop — just as the living lung does.

Neither is pretty to see. Upon inflation, each looks like a grotesque, roughly triangular, flying machine that has nothing but wings. Deflated, each resembles a limp jelly fish.

But there's a difference between them.

One is a normal lung — from the body of a 70-year-old auto mechanic who died of a brain tumor but had healthy lungs throughout life.

The other is a diseased lung — taken from the body of a 77-year-old laborer who had suffered for years from a tissue-destroying lung disease called emphysema.

Although emphysema is a common killer, this man died of something else.

But scientists here at Webb-Waring Institute for Medical Research — for the University of Colorado Medical Center — say his lung reveals many of the telltale grim legacies of emphysema. For example:

— Even at rest, it's abnormally distended and lacks the elasticity of a normal lung.

— When it exhales, it empties much more slowly, and much less completely, than does the lung on the other side of the chamber. It still holds trapped air — a hallmark of emphysema.

— Its surface is richly and nastily spotted with a coal black pigment — another characteristic of most emphysematous lungs — whereas the normal lung in the exhibit has few such spots.

The eerie demonstration is used to help teach medical students about emphysema. It's also used by Webb-Waring scientists to help spread to laymen visitors, including school children, their readily offered gospel that heavy tobacco smoking, especially cigarette smoking, is at least an aggravant of emphysema — if not, indeed, one of its contributory causes.

"The diseased lung in this exhibit is from a man who smoked heavily all his life," said Dr. Roger Sherman Mitchell, whose campaign against cigarette smoking is such that when he has a chain smoking visitor, he offers an ashtray containing mounted pieces of normal and diseased lung.

"The normal lung came from a man who had smoked three or four cigarettes per day for 50 years — but had never inhaled."

House OKs $1.60 Pay Minimum

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has given approval to a bill that would increase the present $1.25 an hour minimum wage to $1.60 in 1968 and bring 8 million new workers under minimum wage protection.

Before completing action on the bill it defeated 183 to 163 a Republican led attempt to delay until 1969 the effective date of the new $1.60 rate. There would be a first-step increase to $1.40 next Feb. 1.

Final action by the Senate is needed before the bill goes to the White House.

At Webb-Waring Institute — named for two pioneering Colorado physicians who helped spearhead the control of tuberculosis in the United States — the lungs of the dead, in various other ways, are helping scientists slowly to unveil some basic anatomical and physiological riddles of emphysema and its satellite maladies, a brigade of foes often as fearsome as tuberculosis ever was.

And, across the roadway at the medical center's great general hospital, doctors report life-saving advances are being made in treating emphysema and allied disease patients who reach the potentially last ditch stage of acute respiratory failure.

The latter condition — a constant threat to almost any emphysema patient — the stage where the breath of life really fails, and death can occur from suffocation, or failure of a heart laboring itself to breathe.

As yet there's no drug or other cure for emphysema — and victims of it can go for years, battling for breath. Certain treatments are available, though, to ease their plight.

Nevertheless, it is respiratory failure that kills emphysema victims — and the Colorado hospital is cited by the U.S. Public Health Service as having one of the best reported records in saving such emergency cases.

One of the physicians sums up the record:

"In this hospital, up to two years ago, some 80 per cent of these emergency, acutely ill patients used to die in the hospital. Now, since the organization of the respiratory care unit, we've reversed this picture. Eighty per cent now get out — and that's good."

He says the hospital is employing some pioneering modifications of existing emergency techniques such as:

— More frequent use of tracheostomies — the cutting of a hole into the windpipe and inserting a breathing tube.

— Use of various mechanical ventilators, including a still experimental one, to deliver an increased volume of air to the lung.

— Encouraging patients to get out of bed for brief periods daily as soon as possible after their emergency — and walk up and down a ward corridor "so as to exercise their breathing muscles, and also get a look at the Rockies to help their morale."

— Greater use of oxygen, in low and controlled concentrations, for treating both emergency cases and patients at home — including still-experimental portable liquid oxygen tanks which some patients carry constantly away from the hospital.

Dr. Mitchell says the most important finding emerging so far from postmortem lung and related studies at Webb-Waring is this:

"The respiratory condition which almost invariably was labeled 'emphysema' five to 10 years ago — and was often looked upon as hopeless, if not, indeed, misdiagnosed as a cerebral stroke, pneumonia or heart failure — is actually a multiplicity of five interrelated conditions, more than one of which may be present at one time."

"And four of these — chronic bronchitis; pulmonary embolism or thrombosis (blood clots in the lung arteries); bronchiolitis (obstruction of the very small air tubes) and asthma — are treatable and reversible."

"It's true that the emphysema component, which involves actual destruction or loss of lung tissue, is so far nonreversible, and not specifically treatable. But you can do things for the emphysema part, as well — like teaching patients to breathe evenly and slowly, so as to get the most benefit from their lungs."

"And so — and we're very excited about this — we have found that the group of conditions as a whole is not a hopeless one. And this is important, because many doctors are still labeling all cases of chronic airways obstruction as emphysema and hopeless."

Findings like this are emerging from another laboratory project — called the Emphysema Registry.

Started in 1956, it involves attempting to collect living subjects suffering from chronic airways obstruction, keep tabs on them throughout life and, when ever possible, examine their lungs grossly and microscopically after death — including giving breathing tests to the bodyless lungs.

The registry now includes records on 392 subjects — people in all walks of life from a coal miner to a chef — of whom about 125 have died.

Among other findings:

1. "There is an almost direct relationship between heavy cigarette smoking and emphysema — chronic bronchitis," Webb-Waring scientists say.

2. A major factor impairing air flow out of the lungs in these conditions has been identified as the collapsibility of the intermediate and large air tubes.

3. The size of the fully inflated lung — both during life and after death, short of examining the lung tissue sections, to ascertain the degree of involvement with emphysema. And this may help doctors in diagnosing the condition.

4. New information about "pink puffers" and "blue bloaters" — a rough categorization of emphysema-bronchitis sufferers according to their outward appearance.

"Pink puffers" tend to be slender people who are very short of breath but have no heart failure. They maintain relatively normal levels of oxygen and carbon dioxide in their blood — thus giving them the pinkish appearance of apparent health.

"Blue bloaters" tend to be overweight people, with a chronic blueness of lips and ears, indicating low oxygen. They also have high percentages of carbon dioxide in their blood. They don't suffer so much from shortness of breath, but they do have a history of serious heart involvement.

Post-mortem studies at Webb-Waring on both types — as well as on intermediate types — indicate the "blue bloaters" are much more likely to derive most of their trouble from changes in their air tubes, as distinguished from destruction of lung tissue that characterizes emphysema. And this, too, may help family doctors in diagnosis.

Amelia Earhart's Plane
Heading for Museum
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The little, red Lockheed airplane that carried Amelia Earhart on her solo flight across the Atlantic in 1932 was "airborne" again briefly recently. It was lowered from its hanging display at the Franklin Institute to the floor. The plane, in which Miss Earhart became the first woman to fly the Atlantic solo, is being turned over to the Smithsonian Institution.

No Cure Yet Known for Emphysema, But Some Hospitals Provide Relief

EDITOR'S NOTE — Emphysema is a disease of the lungs, a disease rapidly becoming one of the country's worst cripplers. There is no drug or cure for emphysema, but some hospitals are finding success in rehabilitating and helping victims. Here is the third in a four-part series on the ailment.

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — In a laboratory within sight of the Rockies' foothills there's a mechanical apparatus that looks and sounds like a prop for a chiller movie on the late, late late TV show.

It's a breathing exhibit of two human lungs taken from the bodies of dead men, but now working for science.

Encased in a glass chamber, and powered by an airflow pump, the two bodyless lungs hang side by side and alternately inflate and deflate — swell and droop — just as the living lung does.

Neither is pretty to see. Upon inflation, each looks like a grotesque, roughly triangular, flying machine that has nothing but wings. Deflated, each resembles a limp jelly fish.

But there's a difference between them.

One is a normal lung — from the body of a 70-year-old auto mechanic who died of a brain tumor but had healthy lungs throughout life.

The other is a diseased lung — taken from the body of a 77-year-old laborer who had suffered for years from a tissue-destroying lung disease called emphysema.

Although emphysema is a common killer, this man died of something else.

But scientists here at Webb-Waring Institute for Medical Research — for the University of Colorado Medical Center — say his lung reveals many of the telltale grim legacies of emphysema. For example:

— Even at rest, it's abnormally distended and lacks the elasticity of a normal lung.

— When it exhales, it empties much more slowly, and much less completely, than does the lung on the other side of the chamber. It still holds trapped air — a hallmark of emphysema.

— Its surface is richly and nastily spotted with a coal black pigment — another characteristic of most emphysematous lungs — whereas the normal lung in the exhibit has few such spots.

The eerie demonstration is used to help teach medical students about emphysema. It's also used by Webb-Waring scientists to help spread to laymen visitors, including school children, their readily offered gospel that heavy tobacco smoking, especially cigarette smoking, is at least an aggravant of emphysema — if not, indeed, one of its contributory causes.

"The diseased lung in this exhibit is from a man who smoked heavily all his life," said Dr. Roger Sherman Mitchell, whose campaign against cigarette smoking is such that when he has a chain smoking visitor, he offers an ashtray containing mounted pieces of normal and diseased lung.

"The normal lung came from a man who had smoked three or four cigarettes per day for 50 years — but had never inhaled."

Post-mortem studies at Webb-Waring on both types — as well as on intermediate types — indicate the "blue bloaters" are much more likely to derive most of their trouble from changes in their air tubes, as distinguished from destruction of lung tissue that characterizes emphysema. And this, too, may help family doctors in diagnosis.

Orient State Institute Grounds Represent Nature at Its Best

The grounds of Orient State Institute near the village of Orient in Scioto Twp. resemble a beautifully kept college campus with rolling lawns, tall shade trees, Victorian flowerbeds and a view of the fertile bottomlands through which Darby Creek meanders.

According to Institute florist A. J. Graham, who has held the job for about 28 years, this is a particularly fine year for flowers and lawns. The rains came at just the right moment. "There are years," he explained, "when the lawns are brown about this time."

Graham, an Ohio State University man who majored in horticulture, escorted the garden editor around the well-kept grounds. The Rev. Raymon Konkright, one of the Institute chaplains, also served as guide.

Buildings form a crescent on the brow of a hill overlooking the rich bottomlands. Buildings, for the most part, are one story and brick. When the institute was under construction bricks were made from clay found in the area.

THE INSTITUTE was founded near the turn of the century. Tradition has it that disappointed oil drillers struck an artesian well instead of an oil gusher. Shortly after that the land was purchased by the state.

The present site comprises about 1,800 acres. Ninety of this is in the lawns that surround the buildings. Much of the rest is under cultivation.

Rev. Konkright, for instance, told us they harvested about 14,000 bushels of potatoes last year. The modern dairy where 125 cows are milked provides products for the institute.

Patients help with much of the work. The florist has quite a staff of helpers. And Graham says, "these boys" are interested in the going-on in the greenhouse. And there is plenty going on in the huge greenhouse. It is here plants are raised from seed for the bright flower beds.

Flowers, for the most part, are used at the institute. Graham said there are more than 100 places for which he provides flowers.

He named the hospital, the reception rooms, offices and the reception rooms at all the cottages, the dining rooms, class rooms, offices and the cafeteria. And Rev. Konkright reminded the florist that he never failed to provide flowers for all religious services at the chapel.

ACTUALLY the tour started when the garden editor was introduced to a patient who helps out in the Institute garage. He had a small vegetable garden of his own in back of the garage. And in winter he kept an array of houseplants in the garage window. He said the garden had done well and he was proud of his tomatoes.

VICTORIAN FLOWERBED — This enormous circular flowerbed required more than 600 plants to fill it. It is located near Kirk School Building. Rev. Konkright receives a big celosia from florist A. J. Graham who uses flowers from these beds for some of the bouquets to be found at Orient Institute. If a plant grows too big and hides a shorter one, the florist waits until one of them blooms then uses it as a cut flower. It is flowerbeds like this that give the extensive grounds accents of color.

Then the garden editor met florist Graham. He wears a big apron and smokes a pipe. Wearing the big apron could be a valuable example for gardeners in general.

An off season in the greenhouse, it was nevertheless interesting and full of blooming leftovers. Graham and his crew are getting started on carnations. Next they'll begin on the poinsettias.

Potted pickle plants were in one small area. These succulents are amusing as well as pretty. Each leaf looks exactly like a plump tiny pickle not longer than one third of an inch. The florist said that star cactus was an easy rooting plant. He had these in bloom.

One bench was full of thriving ferns. Balsams were potted and in bloom. Centaurea Americana or basket flower was blooming. Nigella, Bells of Ireland, pansies, phlox and countless other annuals not needed in the flowerbeds are on hand. Outside the greenhouse was a picking garden. Here were rows of celosia, marigolds, snaps, gloriosa daisies, glads and carnations.

A TOUR of the grounds in the truck used by the florist and his crew was next on the agenda. The 90 acres of lawn and the many tall and beautiful shade trees give Orient Institute its feeling of tranquility and peace.

Trees are old and large near the main buildings. Many are sugar maples. There is a sprinkling of native walnuts and a handsome weeping willow.

The silver maples and Norway maples of course add to the list of shade trees on the grounds. Flourishing as it always does is a Cole sunburst locust.

A sense of quiet pervades the grounds. Yet there is plenty of low-keyed activity. One interested group of girls and women had been harvesting the onion crop. Rev. Konkright said attendants and employees all seemed to serve with a sense of dedication. A number of Pickaway County people are working at the institute.

Flowerbeds are bright spots of color. The circular ones near the buildings are in keeping with the architecture of the buildings first erected. Graham says patients are interested and appreciative of both the flowers outdoors and the indoor bouquets.

One of the big circular flowerbeds with 500 or more bedding plants was located near the Kirk School Building. It was centered by a morning glory pole completely covered with heavenly blue morning glory blossoms.

THE HUGE circle was bordered with bright red single geraniums and gray dusty miller. Next came a circle of red camanche petunias interspersed with salvias.

Not a weed was to be seen.

The florist and his crew made sure of that.

All 21 cottages seemed to have flower plantings of some sort. Many had boxes filled with some of the same plants featured in big circle. Cottage occupants are responsible for the care of these boxes.

At cottage No. 3 a simple but charming dooryard garden had been planted. It gave a cheery welcome to all who entered. The same annuals that gave brilliant accents in other flower plantings were used, a border of gray dusty miller, red petunias and taller celosia and cannas.

According to Rev. Konkright, group tours may be arranged through him for any who would be interested in visiting Orient State Institute. The garden editor is of the firm conviction visitors will see beautifully kept grounds and an excellent display of bedding annuals.

Kingwood Center Cards Two Shows

Two great shows have been rolled into one to make the weekend of September 10 and 11 at Kingwood Center an outstanding attraction.

The annual Fall Harvest Show, sponsored by the Men's Garden Club of Mansfield, has been expanded to include the annual Rose Show of the Kingwood Rose Society. Each is a major event in its own right. Together they constitute a garden extravaganza.

As usual the show is open to all who wish to exhibit. One need not be a member of any garden club to enter. Closing time for entries is 11 a. m. Sept. 10. The show will be open to the public from 2 to 9 p. m. Saturday and 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. Sunday.

Curious Type Mushrooms Identified

Mrs. Francis Marion, Route 4, woke up one morning to find some strange and beautiful mushrooms in her backyard. There were about 15 altogether.

They were umbrella shaped, gleaming white with pink pleated undersides. They looked good enough to eat but nobody wanted to take a chance.

Floyd Bartley, Pickaway County naturalist, identified them as parasol mushrooms or Lepiota Procera.

His book says they are edible. Bartley himself thinks it wiser to refrain from eating summer mushrooms.

Garden Gossip

Attending a session of the Brooks Bird Club in West Virginia were Floyd Bartley and Donald McBeth, both members of the Circleville Garden Club.

The Clarence Woods of Whisler have a planting of different colored balsam in front of their home. This an attractive plant. It is also known as touch-me-not. When seed pods are ripe the merest touch will cause them to open and scatter their seeds.

One of the plants blooming in pots at the Orient State Institute was the Marytinia or unicorn plant. The fruits are cylindrical, the upper halves narrowing down into a long curved beak-like structure. Arrangers like them for dried bouquets. But A. J. Graham told us they are pickled and eaten in some parts of the world. He promised to find the recipe if he could. I am looking for it, too. If I find it first I will send it to him.

Nelson Jones said one of the late rains almost washed his plants down the hill. He was busy afterwards staking them and pushing their roots down into the soil again.

Garden bloom is a fleeting quality. It is so easy to arrive just before the peak or just afterwards. But when I visited the Jones garden at Tarlton, it was at its moment of perfection.

Lynette Justice told me she understood there were only three county youngsters who had 4-H flower garden projects. Lynette believes that next year she'll have such a project.

Call for Polly Miller! One year Mrs. Don Miller, Route 1, Circleville, was the 4-H leader for a whole group of youngsters with flower garden projects. They accomplished great things. One of the most impressive was that each youngster had his own cold frame.

Nothing is quite so grand as lima beans fresh plucked from the garden. One day after swimming hours I found a container of limas — hulled, too. They were from Daisy Brintlinger's garden. The Brintlingers live on Shoemaker Road.

The George Macklins of near Laurelville have some very large sugar maples. Ruth Macklin says their place was once a maple sugar camp and these are the remaining trees. She also showed me an old path. Youngsters from Laurelville used to carry buckets of water from the spring which is on the Macklin place to the schoolhouse.

The Macklins also have a cypress tree which I will watch with interest. Formerly regarded as a southern tree, it has been found to be much hardier than gardeners realized. Down in Hardin County, Ill., the highway department used it for roadside planting with great success. This Illinois county is about the same latitude as Louisville, Ky.

Cypress trees have short needles and give a feathery effect. The needles come off in wintertime. The Macklin cypress has wintered over a couple of years.

I spend the summer "cussing" my polygonum Reynoutria. This is a Japanese plant (one of the knotweeds) with charming pink flowers. And come September the polygonum which I have tussled with all summer gives me great pleasure.

Incidentally, this plant has poor garden manners. Its root spreads and wants to take over. But it is a fine ground cover and I'd recommend it unconditionally for troublesome slopes.

Quite the opposite is Paul's Scarlet Hawthorne that is such a brilliant sight in early May. It has clusters of red flowers and each flower is like an exquisite tiny rose. By September it has lost all its leaves and visitors think I have a dead tree.

Wonder if we are to have an early winter? The barn swallows left two weeks ago. They almost always stay through Labor Day. And Saturday morning we had our first migrant duck.

Mrs. Cliff Hedges, Route 4, Circleville, called to say she wants in on the boasting when it comes to hibiscus plants. She says she would dig hers up if blossoms were less than 10 inches. Her's is a red one and flowers have been enormous. Her smallest blossom, she is sure, has measured at least 10 inches in diameter.

PROBATE COURT NOTICE
All interested parties are hereby notified that the following Executors have filed their accounts in the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio:

No. 22192 William D. Hicks, Executor of the estate of Sherman Hicks, deceased. Final and distributive account.

No. 13181 Mary E. Heffner and Christian C. Schwarz, Executors of the estate of Elizabeth Heffner, deceased. Second partial account.

And that said accounts will be for hearing and settlement before this Probate Court on Monday, September 26th, 1966, at 9 o'clock A. M. Exceptions to said accounts, if any, must be filed herein on or before September 26th, 1966.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Probate Court this 24th day of August, 1966.

Scioto Valley Dahlia Group Planning for Two-Day Show

The Scioto Valley Dahlia Society will hold its 15th annual show Saturday and Sunday at the Junior Fair Building on the Ross County Fairgrounds near Chillicothe. Entries are open to all.

This will be a big show with 224 classes. The artistic division will have 10 classes. Entries must be entered before noon Sept. 10. Exhibitors may buy their luncheon at the show. This is provided by members of the society and funds will go into the treasury.

Judging will start immediately after entries are closed.

C. H. BOWEN, secretary-treasurer of the society, is particularly anxious for arrangers to know they are welcome to compete in this show. A silver medalion will be awarded to the outstanding arrangement in the artistic division.

Theme of the arrangement division is "Let Us Appreciate." Arrangement classes are:

SECTION A (open to all)—1. The Heritage of the Past, a design in a container reminiscent of pioneer days; 2. The Mystery of the Mound Builders, vivid colors showing Indian influence; 3. The Strength of the Church, vertical design; 4. The Bountiful Harvest, mass design; 5. King Corn, a design with yellow predominate; and corn foliage if desired; 6. The Beauty of a Sunset, a design using pastel or bicolor dahlias; 7. The Exploration of Space, a dynamic design depicting flight;

SECTION B (novice) — The Small Pleasures, using miniature dahlias; 9. SECTION C (for men only) — The Armed Forces, a design of red dahlias expressing courage; 10. SECTION D (garden clubs only)—

The Manufacturing Industry, an interpretation of an industry in our country — Card to accompany exhibit, naming the Industry.

Rules governing the arrangement division are: 1. Entries may not be removed before the closing of show, Sun. 7 p. m.; 2. Only one entry in each class is allowed an exhibitor; 3. Containers for all artistic design entries must be marked with the name of the exhibitor; 4. The flower show committee will exercise all care but cannot be responsible for loss or breakage of containers or accessories; 5. Foliage material, accessories and bases may be used in all the design classes if desired, weathered wood also permitted; 6. Dahlias shall be the predominate flower in all designs. Other flowers are permitted; 7. No artificial flowers or foliage may be used in the show; 8. All decisions of the judges shall be final; 9. A flower arrangement is the art of organizing selected elements (line, form, pattern, texture and color) according to the principals, balance, proportion, dominance, rhythm, contrast and scale, of design to attain beauty simplicity, expression and harmony.

OAGC Event Considered Outstanding

Mrs. Charles Fleming reports that the Ohio Assn. of Garden Clubs State Convention was a most pleasurable experience.

Others attending from Pickaway County were Mrs. Joe Sheets and Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner. Mrs. Bumgarner is the state chairman of County Fair Flower Shows of the OAGC.

Convention goers had their choice of a tour of Cincinnati gardens or a program on birds — Attracting, feeding and identification.

There were 400 garden club members who chose the tour. Of special interest were the gardens of the Kenny estates and the Streittmann estates.

ARRANGERS were pleased with the demonstration of Mrs. Raymon Aldrich known as the "Pods - Happy Lady" because of her interest in seed pods and dried material. Most of her arrangements were of dried materials.

Jan De Graff's exhibit of lilies from Oregon is said to have been outstanding.

THE POOL GARDEN — Near the Administration building is the square pool with a trickling fountain. One of the carp in the pool recently flopped out of the water and inflicted considerable damage on the geraniums. Florist A. J. Graham in his familiar apron and pipe in hand directs members of his crew as they repair damage.

SIMPLE DOORYARD GARDEN — Cottage No. 3 has a bright planting around its entrance. The florist crew keep the weeds out and the plants watered. Many of the cottages have flower boxes.

Orient State Institute Grounds
Represent Nature at Its Best

The grounds of Orient State Institute near the village of Orient in Scioto Twp. resemble a beautifully kept college campus with rolling lawns, tall shade trees, Victorian flowerbeds and a view of the fertile bottomlands through which Darby Creek meanders.

According to Institute florist A. J. Graham, who has held the job for about 28 years, this is a particularly fine year for flowers and lawns. The rains came at just the right moment. "There are years," he explained, "when the lawns are brown about this time."

Graham, an Ohio State University man who majored in horticulture, escorted the garden editor around the well-kept grounds. The Rev. Raymon Konkrigh, one of the Institute chaplains, also served as guide.

Buildings form a crescent on the brow of a hill overlooking the rich bottomlands. Buildings, for the most part, are one story and brick. When the institute was under construction bricks were made from clay found in the area.

THE INSTITUTE was founded near the turn of the century. Tradition has it that disappointed oil drillers struck an artesian well instead of an oil gusher. Shortly after that the land was purchased by the state.

The present site comprises about 1,800 acres. Ninety of this is in the lawns that surround the buildings. Much of the rest is under cultivation.

Rev. Konkrigh, for instance, told us they harvested about 14,000 bushels of potatoes last year. The modern dairy where 125 cows are milked provides products for the institute.

Patients help with much of the work. The florist has quite a staff of helpers. And Graham says, "these boys" are interested in the going-on in the greenhouse. And there is plenty going on in the huge greenhouse. It is here plants are raised from seed for the bright flower beds.

Flowers, for the most part, are used at the institute. Graham said there are more than 100 places for which he provides flowers.

He named the hospital, the reception rooms, offices and the reception rooms at all the cottages, the dining rooms, class rooms, offices and the cafeteria. And Rev. Konkrigh reminded the florist that he never failed to provide flowers for all religious services at the chapel.

ACTUALLY the tour started when the garden editor was introduced to a patient who helps out in the Institute garage. He had a small vegetable garden of his own in back of the garage. And in winter he kept an array of houseplants in the garage window. He said the garden had done well and he was proud of his tomatoes.

VICTORIAN FLOWERBED — This enormous circular flowerbed required more than 600 plants to fill it. It is located near Kirk School Building. Rev. Konkrigh receives a big celosia from florist A. J. Graham who uses flowers from these beds for some of the bouquets to be found at Orient Institute. If a plant grows too big and hides a shorter one, the florist waits until one of them blooms then uses it as a cut flower. It is flowerbeds like this that give the extensive grounds accents of color.

Then the garden editor met florist Graham. He wears a big apron and smokes a pipe. Wearing the big apron could be a valuable example for gardeners in general.

An off season in the greenhouse, it was nevertheless interesting and full of blooming leftovers. Graham and his crew are getting started on carnations. Next they'll begin on the poinsettias.

Potted pickle plants were in one small area. These succulents are amusing as well as pretty. Each leaf looks exactly like a plump tiny pickle not longer than one third of an inch. The florist said that star cactus was an easy rooting plant. He had these in blossom.

One bench was full of thriving ferns. Balsams were potted and in bloom. Centaurea Americana or basket flower was blooming. Nigella, Bells of Ireland, pansies, phlox and countless other annuals not needed in the flowerbeds are on hand. Outside the greenhouse was a picking garden. Here were rows of celosia, marigolds, snaps, gloriosa daisies, glads and carnations.

A TOUR of the grounds in the truck used by the florist and his crew was next on the agenda. The 90 acres of lawn and the many tall and beautiful shade trees give Orient Institute its feeling of tranquility and peace.

Trees are old and large near the main buildings. Many are sugar maples. There is a sprinkling of native walnuts and a handsome weeping willow.

The silver maples and Norway maples of course add to the list of shade trees on the grounds. Flourishing as it always does is a Cole sunburst locust.

A sense of quiet pervades the grounds. Yet there is plenty of low-keyed activity. One interested group of girls and women had been harvesting the onion crop. Rev. Konkrigh said attendants and employees all seemed to serve with a sense of dedication. A number of Pickaway County people are working at the institute.

Flowerbeds are bright spots of color. The circular ones near the buildings are in keeping with the architecture of the buildings first erected. Graham says patients are interested and appreciative of both the flowers outdoors and the indoor bouquets.

One of the big circular flowerbeds with 500 or more bedding plants was located near the Kirk School Building. It was centered by a morning glory pole completely covered with heavenly blue morning glory blossoms.

THE HUGE circle was bordered with bright red single geraniums and gray dusty miller. Next came a circle of red camanche petunias interspersed with salvias.

Not a weed was to be seen.

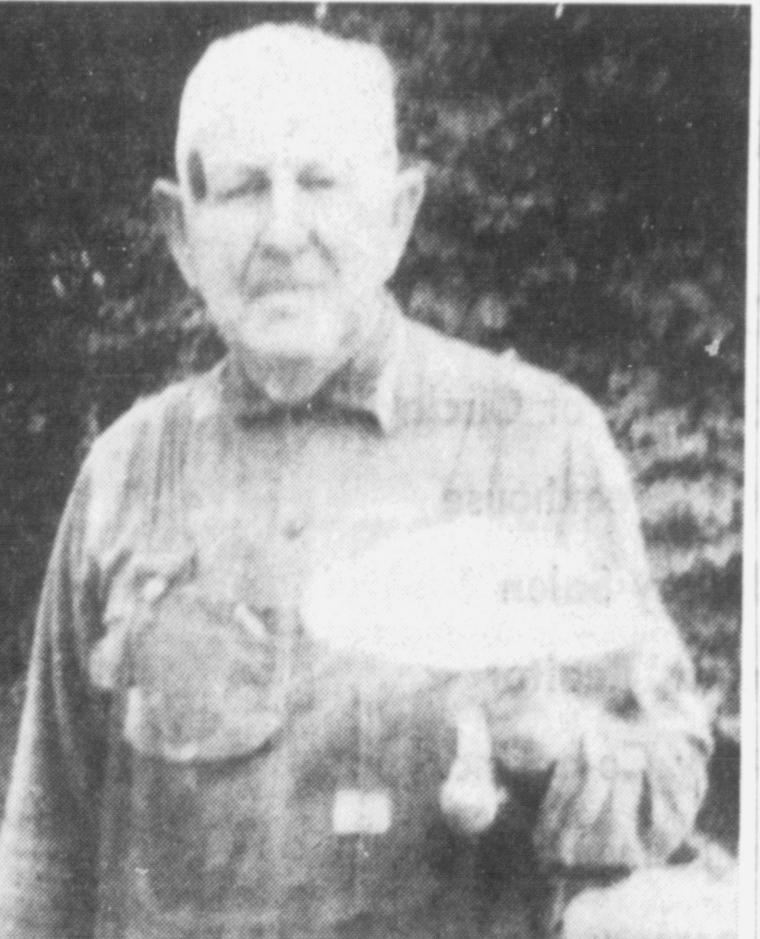

Curious Type Mushrooms Identified

Mrs. Francis Marion, Route 4, woke up one morning to find some strange and beautiful mushrooms in her backyard. There were about 15 altogether.

They were umbrella shaped, gleaming white with pink pleated undersides. They looked good enough to eat but nobody wanted to take a chance.

Floyd Bartley, Pickaway County naturalist, identified them as parasol mushrooms or Lepiota Procera.

Circleville Tigers on Road For Grid Season Opener

Circleville travels to Grove City Friday night to open its 1966 football campaign.

The Tigers will be seeking their third win in as many starts at the Greyhound field. In 1964, the first of recent contests with the Southwest Franklin county school, the Roundtowners eked out an 18-6 victory.

Last year the Greyhounds played on the old Tiger field. They were walloped 48-0, by Circleville.

Coach Paul Starr has been putting his Tigers through a busy pace all week in preparation for the opener.

THE SECOND string offensive team has been running plays Grove City is expected to use.

According to reports Starr has received on Grove City, the Greyhounds have good size and good speed.

A perfectionist when it comes to football technique, Starr readily admits he is not satisfied with the Tigers. In practice sessions this fall the emphasis has been on conditioning.

"We might not have the best material in the league, but we will outcondition them all," Starr claims.

The West Virginia transplant believes most football games are won or lost in the fourth quarter. Consequently, the Tiger squad has been doing plenty of running.

The Tiger offensive lineup at Grove City will see Ron Bryant and Jim Campbell starting at ends, with Lynn Heath tabbed to see a lot of action at the position. Jim Noel and Craig Lambert will start at tackles.

STEVE CARROLL, Doug Smith and Rod Sines will share the guard duties and Don Cordel will play center.

Calling the signals will be Bob Tootle. Eddie Wells has the starting nod at fullback although Tom Jenkins is expected to see plenty of action at the spot.

Halfbacks will be Tom Fletcher and Steve Dade, with Tom Wright the No. 1 backup man.

Meet the Tigers

Tom Fletcher (65) and Ron Bryant (86) are co-captains of the 1966 edition of the Circleville Football Tigers. Fletcher, "a real wild man on defense" in the words of coach Paul Starr, is the Tiger middle linebacker and halfback. Bryant, a split end on offense, was one of the team's more consistent players last year. Fletcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fletcher, 721 Maplewood Ave. Bryant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bryant, 1053 Mulberry Road.

Squirrels First Target for Ohio Hunters

Squirrel season opens Friday at daylight throughout the state. A late killing frost last spring damaged the mast (nut and acorn) crop in Pickaway County.

Consequently, nimrods can expect to find the squirrel population concentrated in areas where natural food is available.

Wildlife officials urge hunters to exercise caution during the squirrel hunting season, noting it is one of the more dangerous sports due to dense foliage in woodlots.

Farrington Chalks His 200th Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — For the fifth time in six years—or four times more than anyone else ever — Ohio harness racing driver Bob Farrington has eclipsed the 200 mark in winners.

Latest U.S. Trotting Association figures show Farrington, of Richwood, Ohio, with 207 triumphs through last week. Farrington set the American record of 312 in 1964 and drove 310 winners in 1965.

Farrington's drives have earned $500,913 in purse money this year, putting him seventh on a list led by Stanley Dancer with $840,501.

Candy Sibbick, 15, Cops 1st Flight in Virginia Tournament

Candy Sibbick, who captured the Pickaway Country Club women's golf championship at the age of 13, recently won the first flight championship in the Virginia Women's Amateur Golf tournament.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sibbick, former residents of Circleville, Candy became the youngest person to win a championship at the Pickaway Country Club in 1964 when she copped the women's title.

She repeated as champion in 1965 at the age of 14. The Sibbicks now reside in Martinsville, Va., where Candy plays golf at the Forest Park Country Club.

Miss Sibbick will be a sophomore at Martinsville High School this fall.

IN THE Virginia tourney, she fired a 91 in the first day's qualifying round over the tough par 74 Hot Springs Course. Entering tournament play, she won four straight matches to take the first flight title.

In the final match, she defeated Mrs. Florence Kramer of Virginia Beach, 2 and 1.

Considered one of the most promising young golfers in the state of Virginia, Miss Sibbick won the Chatmoss Women's tournament earlier this summer and is the women's club champion at Forest Forest Park Country Club.

Bullet Van To Start at Scioto Downs

On Saturday Night, in a $4,000 Invitational Pace at Scioto Downs, Bullet Van will go postward in his first start on a pari-mutuel track in 1966.

Undeclared in 10 starts this year on the county fair circuit, the Bullet is owned by the Van Camp Stables of Circleville. Jack Betts will be in the sulky.

The last time out on the pari-mutuel circuit, Bullet Van won three of four starts, losing only to the famed Bret Hanover.

He holds a record of 2:01.3, set on the Goshen Historic Track, Goshen, N. Y.

Also entered in the race Saturday are Bye Time, Faithful Kid, Success Creed, Gold Abbe, Ford Patch and Hideaway Pat. The latter is owned by Harlow Arledge of Circleville and will be reined by Jim Arledge.

Ohioan Is Lone American In National Tennis Test

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The loneliest man in the National Tennis Championships today and perhaps the proudest — is the 24-year-old son of a Cleveland doctor, Clark Graebner.

He's the lone American in a batch of invaders — five Australians, a Spaniard and an Englishman — who square off in men's quarter-final matches today and Friday.

"I'm glad I won, but, gee, I'm sorry our other guys had to lose," Graebner said after he had survived a two-hour duel with England's Graham Stilwell 9-11, 8-6, 6-3, 7-5.

The good-looking 6-footer, who for years has been labeled strictly a doubles player and is ranked only 13th nationally, now becomes a key man in the United States' plans for recovering the Davis Cup — a bleak prospect.

The nation's No. 1 player, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., lost in straight sets to Australia's Fred Stolle 7-5, 6-3, 9-7. Marty Riessen, his longtime doubles mate from Evanston, Ill., yielded a tough one to two-time champion Roy Emerson of Australia, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

Chuck McKinley of Port Washington, N. Y., bowed to Wimbledon champion and the defender, Manuel Santana of Spain 9-7, 9-7, 8-6.

This is a big year for Graebner. He won the Pennsylvania championships at Merion and went to the final of the Eastern at Orange, N. J. He teamed with Ralston to defeat the Mexicans in the American Zone final at Cleveland 5-0.

Graebner's big moment comes Friday when he plays Stolle, Ralston's conqueror, in the quarter-finals. If he wins, he gets a shot at the Emerson-Owen Davidson winner, another Aussie test.

Two American girls — Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco — remain to challenge former champion Maria Bueno of Brazil in the women's division.

Jets Win Opener In IL Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Richmond Braves and the Columbus Jets have taken one-game leads in the best-of-five semifinal International League post-season playoffs.

Richmond, continuing its late-season string of successes against Rochester, knocked off the pennant-winning Red Wings 6-2 and the Jets whipped the Toronto Maple Leafs 3 - 0 in Wednesday night's openers.

Left-Hander Luke Walker scattered six hits as Columbus beat Toronto in a battle of the two teams that tied for second place. The Jets scored in the fifth on two singles and a sacrifice, and catcher Jimmie Price wrapped it up with a two-run homer in the ninth.

Curly Smart's Colt Wins Scioto Feature

COLCMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Curly Smart drove his More Time, a 2-year-old bay son of Good Time, to a narrow victory over Queen's Cadet in Wednesday night's Scioto Downs feature.

More Time edged in front by a head at the wire in 2:06 3-5 in the $1,200 juvenile mile pace.

Noble Victory Rated Favorite

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Noble Victory, who has made shambles of world and track records in recent weeks, is the 3-5 choice to whip seven other 4-year-olds in the $100,000 Hilltop Trot at Yonkers Raceway tonight even though he'll start from the unfavorable No. 7 post position.

The outstanding performance by the son of Victory Son-Emily's Pride came in the recent Hambletonian Maturity at Du Quoin, Ill., when he lowered the race record for trotters for one mile to 1:55 3-5. The time clipped three-fifths of a second off the old mark.

Perfect Freight is rated best of the others at 4-1 with Short Stop next in line at 6-1. Others in the race are All Aflame, Ar-abesque, Victory Cadet, Sweet and Blazing Song.

National Amateur King Enters Pro-Am Test

CINCINNATI (AP) — The seventh annual USGA Pro-Amateur Golf Tourney gets under way here Saturday, with entries topped by Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., new National Amateur champion.

Cowan won the title last weekend. Back to defend his share of the 1965 title will be veteran pro Mike Souchak.

A field of 80 teams will compete in the two-day 36-hole best ball affair for a total purse of $25,000. The pro on the winning team will pocket $3,500.

Circleville Tigers on Road For Grid Season Opener

Circleville travels to Grove City Friday night to open its 1966 football campaign. The Tigers will be seeking their third win in as many starts at the Greyhound field. In 1964, the first of recent contests with the Southwest Franklin county school, the Roundtowners eked out an 18-6 victory. Last year the Greyhounds played on the old Tiger field. They were walloped 48-0, by Circleville. Coach Paul Starr has been putting his Tigers through a busy pace all week in preparation for the opener.

THE SECOND string offensive team has been running plays Grove City is expected to use.

According to reports Starr has received on Grove City, the Greyhounds have good size and good speed.

A perfectionist when it comes to football technique, Starr readily admits he is not satisfied with the Tigers. In practice sessions this fall the emphasis has been on conditioning.

"We might not have the best material in the league, but we will outcondition them all," Starr claims.

The West Virginia transplant believes most football games are won or lost in the fourth quarter. Consequently, the Tiger squad has been doing plenty of running.

The Tiger offensive lineup at Grove City will see Ron Bryant and Jim Campbell starting at ends, with Lynn Heath tabbed to see a lot of action at the position. Jim Noel and Craig Lambert will start at tackles.

STEVE CARROLL, Doag Smith and Rod Sines will share the guard duties and Don Cordell will play center.

Calling the signals will be Bob Tootle. Eddie Wells has the starting nod at fullback although Tom Jenkins is expected to see plenty of action at the spot. Halfbacks will be Tom Fletcher and Steve Dade, with Tom Wright the No. 1 backup man.

Meet the Tigers

Tom Fletcher (65) and Ron Bryant (86) are co-captains of the 1966 edition of the Circleville Football Tigers. Fletcher, "a real wild man on defense" in the words of coach Paul Starr, is the Tiger middle linebacker and halfback. Bryant, a split end on offense, was one of the team's more consistent players last year. Fletcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fletcher, 721 Maplewood Ave. Bryant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bryant, 1053 Mulberry Road.

$400,000 Namath May Be Benched

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Joe Namath, the New York Jets' $400,000 quarterback, was the American Football League's Rookie-of-the-Year in 1965, but Friday he might only be sophomore-on-the-bench.

Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank says Namath is "physically able and ready to play," but adds that "it's a tossup who will start against the Miami Dolphins — Joe or Mike Taliaferro."

It is not that Namath has not been on target. Ewbank said both players have looked good in practice this week.

But how do you tell Taliaferro, who directed the Jets through an unbeaten exhibition season after Namath injured his knee in the first quarter of the first game, that he is not starting?

The new Dolphins, looking for their first victory after five exhibition losses and a near miss last week, were not taking any chances. They prepared for Namath or Taliaferro.

"We know both are good passers," Coach George Wilson said, "and that Taliaferro has led them to four straight victories." Fans around the country will see the battle on national television at 7:30 p.m., EDT.

The National Football League opens its season this weekend and the first game is a dandy pitting defending Western Division champion Baltimore against Green Bay, picked by many to unseat the Colts this season. That game in Milwaukee also will be nationally televised.

The rest of the NFL schedule will be played Sunday. Only Dallas has the weekend off. Cleveland plays at Washington, Los Angeles at Atlanta, Chicago at Detroit, Minnesota at San Francisco, New York at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at St. Louis.

The AFL has Oakland at Houston and Boston at San Diego on Saturday night and Kansas City at Buffalo on national television Sunday.

In pro football action Wednesday, fullback Nick Pietrosante, cut loose Monday by the Detroit Lions, said he expects to sign with another club within three days.

He said two NFL teams and three AFL teams had contacted him. He declined to name them, but Denver of the AFL said it was bidding for his services.

Veteran quarterback George Izo, released by Detroit with Pietrosante, was working out with Pittsburgh. The Steelers got down to the 40-player limit by cutting Steve Barnett, a guard from Stanford.

St. Louis trimmed two veterans, Chuck Logan, a tight end, and guard Jim Battle.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS
Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, the fiscal officer of the City of Circleville, Ohio, referred to as the municipality, in the County of Pickaway, Ohio, at her office in the City Hall of the City of Circleville, Ohio, on the 11th day of September, 1966, at 12:00 o'clock noon Eastern Standard Time on the 4th day of October, 1966, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of bonds of the municipality in the aggregate amount of $100,000, authorized by ordinance passed September 7, 1965 and September 6, 1966. Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Sewer District No. 2 Improvement Bonds."

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of October, 1966, shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, except bond No. 1 in the denomination of $500, shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December of each year, beginning June 1, 1967, at the rate of four per centum (4 per cent) per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6 per cent provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one percent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows: $25,000 on December 1, in the years 1967 to 1976, inclusive; $15,000 on December 1, in the year 1967; $30,000 on December 1, in the year 1967.

Said bonds are issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments heretofore levied to pay the property owners' portion, in anticipation of the collection of special assessments heretofore levied, and the City's portion of the cost of constructing sanitary sewers with requisite appurtenances in Circleville Sewer District No. 2.

Said bonds are payable at the office of The Legal Depositary of the City, presently The Third National Bank of Circleville, Circleville, Ohio, without deduction for its services as the municipality's paying agent, and are supported by limited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than the lowest interest rate. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to be paid on the bonds, and deducting therefrom the premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded to such one of the highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check or certified check payable to the municipality, or any combination thereof, aggregating one per cent of the amount of said bonds, upon the condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for such bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the municipality until the maturity of the bonds and forfeited as full bond and damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.

The proceeds of this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Demore, Bond Attorneys, Circleville, Ohio, whose approving notice may be obtained by the successful bidder at his expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the municipality, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery, to entitle delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes and special assessments for their payment. In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bid security shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the legislative authority of the municipality will meet at 7:30 o'clock P.M., E.S.T., on the 4th day of October, 1966, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds shall be delivered for payment within the State of Ohio to the purchaser or to a bank designated by the purchaser without charge. If delivered at a place outside the State of Ohio, the purchaser shall pay the expense of delivery, and the successful bidder shall not be considered in determining the highest bidder.

Before making delivery of the bonds at the place of delivery, the municipality shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the date of delivery of the fact that the bonds, transcript, notification certificate and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given by the municipality or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds are delivered, the successful bidder shall not be liable for the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately. The right is reserved to reject bids.

Yankees Hit Cellar; First Time Since '13

League-Leading Baltimore Raps Once-Mighty '99'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Now Ralph Houk knows how Frank Chance felt 53 years ago.

Chance, a Hall of Famer who starred at first base for the Chicago Cubs, managed the New York Yankees in 1913 when they were in last place on the next-to-last day of the season.

Today, Houk's Yankees occupy the American League cellar for the first time in September since that day in 1913.

Houk undoubtedly hopes things turn out as well for him as they did for Chance — the 1913 Yankees came on to win on the final day and finish seventh in an eight-team league.

New York hasn't finished last since 1912.

The Yankees, winners of 29 pennants and 20 World Series, plunged into the basement Wednesday night by losing 3-2 to league-leading Baltimore while Boston was edging Cleveland 5-4 and Kansas City was beating California 6-3.

The loss left the Yankees 28½ games off the pace, a game back of Kansas City and one-half game behind ninth-place Boston.

In other AL games Wednesday, Minnesota nipped Chicago 6-4 and Detroit downed Washington 4-0.

Atlanta trounced Pittsburgh 8-3, St. Louis nipped Houston 6-5 and San Francisco edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 12 innings in the only National League action.

As last-place teams have a habit of doing, the Yankees lost their game the hard way — Baltimore scoring the winning run in the eighth inning without getting a hit.

The Orioles loaded the bases on a walk, a sacrifice-fielder choice on which pitcher Mel Sottemyere failed to throw out the man at second and an intentional walk to Frank Robinson.

Brooks Robinson then hit a hard grounder to third base which Clete Boyer bobbled and then attempted to get a double play instead of going to the plate for a force out.

$400,000 Namath May Be Benched

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Joe Namath, the New York Jets' $400,000 quarterback, was the American Football League's Rookie-of-the-Year in 1965, but Friday he might only be sophomore-on-the-bench.

Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank says Namath is "physically able and ready to play" but adds that "it's a tossup who will start against the Miami Dolphins — Joe or Mike Taliaferro."

It is not that Namath has not been on target. Ewbank said both players have looked good in practice this week.

But how do you tell Taliaferro, who directed the Jets through an unbeaten exhibition season after Namath injured his knee in the first quarter of the first game, that he is not starting?

The new Dolphins, looking for their first victory after five exhibition losses and a near miss loss to Oakland in their opener last week, were not taking any chances. They prepared for Namath or Taliaferro.

"We know both are good passers," Coach George Wilson said, "and that Taliaferro has led them to four straight victories."

Fans around the country will see the battle on national television at 7:30 p.m., EDT.

The National Football League opens its season this weekend and the first game is a dandy, pitting defending Western Division champion Baltimore against Green Bay, picked by many to unseat the Colts this season. That game in Milwaukee also will be nationally televised.

The rest of the NFL schedule will be played Sunday. Only Dallas has the weekend off. Cleveland plays at Washington, Los Angeles at Atlanta, Chicago at Detroit, Minnesota at San Francisco, New York at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at St. Louis.

The AFL has Oakland at Houston and Boston at San Diego on Saturday night and Kansas City at Buffalo on national television Sunday.

In pro football action Wednesday, fullback Nick Pietrosante, cut loose Monday by the Detroit Lions, said he expects to sign with another club within three days.

He said two NFL teams and three AFL teams had contacted him. He declined to name them, but Denver of the AFL said it was bidding for his services.

Veteran quarterback George Izo, released by Detroit with Pietrosante, was working out with Pittsburgh. The Steelers got down to the 40-player limit by cutting Steve Barnett, a guard from Stanford.

St. Louis trimmed two veterans, Chuck Logan, a tight end, and guard Jim Battie.

Yankees Hit Cellar; First Time Since '13

League-Leading Baltimore Raps Once-Mighty '9'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Now Ralph Houk knows how Frank Chance felt 53 years ago. Chance, a Hall of Famer who starred at first base for the Chicago Cubs, managed the New York Yankees in 1913 when they were in last place on the next-to-last day of the season.

Today, Houk's Yankees occupy the American League cellar for the first time in September since that day in 1913.

Houk undoubtedly hopes things turn out as well for him as they did for Chance — the 1913 Yankees came on to win in the final day and finish seventh in an eight-team league.

New York hasn't finished last since 1912.

The Yankees, winners of 29 pennants and 20 World Series, plunged into the basement Wednesday night by losing 3-2 to league-leading Baltimore while Boston was edging Cleveland 5-4 and Kansas City was beating California 6-3.

The loss left the Yankees 28½ games off the pace, a game back of Kansas City and one-half game behind ninth-place Boston.

In other AL games Wednesday, Minnesota nipped Chicago 6-4 and Detroit downed Washington 4-0.

Atlanta trounced Pittsburgh 8-3, St. Louis nipped Houston 6-5 and San Francisco edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 12 innings in the only National League action.

As last-place teams have a habit of doing, the Yankees lost their game the hard way — Baltimore scoring the winning run in the eighth inning without getting a hit.

The Orioles loaded the bases on a walk, a sacrifice-fielder choice on which pitcher Mel Sottemyre failed to throw out the man at second and an intentional walk to Frank Robinson.

Brooks Robinson then hit a hard grounder to third base which Cleo Boyer bobbled and then attempted to get a double play instead of going to the plate for a force out.

ties to the crew nor any damage to the ship.

It was the second attempt in two weeks to sink a U.S. minesweeper and the fourth incident in the shipping lane since Aug. 23, when a mine ripped through the U.S. cargo ship Baton Rouge Victory and killed seven American crewmen. On Aug. 28, a Viet Cong mine sank a Vietnamese navy minesweeper.

At least five persons were killed and more than a score injured in Viet Cong attacks aimed at frightening off as many as possible of South Viet Nam's five million voters. Among the widespread violence was the assassination of a government security agent, his wife and three children southwest of Saigon and burning 50 dwellings in a refugee hamlet 340 miles from the capital.

Grenade attacks also continued in and around Saigon. Police offered rewards up to a million piasters — $8,475 — for killing or capturing any Communist in an act of election terrorism.

The U.S. Command announced that American forces in Viet Nam totaled 305,400 men last Saturday, but this does not include 3,000 arrivals since then from the 4,500-man 11th Armored Regiment, which completes debarkation by Sunday.

American headquarters also announced the termination of Operation Toledo, a sweep of the swamplands 40 miles southeast of Saigon by U.S., Vietnamese and Australian forces begun Aug. 10. The allies killed 11 Viet Cong, captured 10 and destroyed 70 hits, 202 bunkers and tunnels, while sustaining light casualties, a spokesman said.

The lessened ground activity of recent days was reflected in the report of casualties for last week. The U. S. command said 74 Americans died in combat, 570 were wounded and 10 were missing or captured. The week before there were 87 Americans reported killed, 599 wounded and one missing.

South Vietnamese casualties were reduced even more — 109 dead and 23 missing, compared with 209 dead and 78 missing the previous week.

A total of 885 enemy dead were reported, compared to 1,148 the week before, while 160 Communists were reported captured, down from 252.

Four Injuries

On Berger List

Four persons received emergency care in Berger Hospital Wednesday for various injuries. All were released.

Philip Diehl, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Diehl, Route 3, injured his left foot while playing football.

David Greeno, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Greeno, 143 Nicholas Drive, fell on the sidewalk and received abrasions to his chin and forehead.

Vanessa Long, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Long, Route 1, Williamsport, was treated after she lacerated her right leg.

Carla Martin, 17 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Martin, Ashville, received burns to her left hand.

ties to the crew nor any damage to the ship.

It was the second attempt in two weeks to sink a U.S. minesweeper and the fourth incident in the shipping lane since Aug. 23, when a mine ripped through the U.S. cargo ship Baton Rouge Victory and killed seven American crewmen. On Aug. 28, a Viet Cong mine sank a Vietnamese navy minesweeper.

At least five persons were killed and more than a score injured in Viet Cong attacks aimed at frightening off as many as possible of South Viet Nam's five million voters. Among the widespread violence was the assassination of a government security agent, his wife and three children southwest of Saigon and burning 50 dwellings in a refugee hamlet 340 miles from the capital.

Grenade attacks also continued in and around Saigon. Police offered rewards up to a million piasters — $8,475 — for killing or capturing any Communist in an act of election terrorism.

The U.S. Command announced that American forces in Viet Nam totaled 305,400 men last Saturday, but this does not include 3,000 arrivals since then from the 4,500-man 11th Armored Regiment, which completes debarkation by Sunday.

American headquarters also announced the termination of Operation Toledo, a sweep of the swamplands 40 miles southeast of Saigon by U.S., Vietnamese and Australian forces begun Aug. 10. The allies killed 11 Viet Cong, captured 10 and destroyed 70 hits, 202 bunkers and tunnels, while sustaining light casualties, a spokesman said.

The lessened ground activity of recent days was reflected in the report of casualties for last week. The U. S. command said 74 Americans died in combat, 570 were wounded and 10 were missing or captured. The week before there were 87 Americans reported killed, 599 wounded and one missing.

South Vietnamese casualties were reduced even more — 109 dead and 23 missing, compared with 209 dead and 78 missing the previous week.

A total of 485 enemy dead were reported, compared to 1,146 the week before, while 190 Communists were reported captured, down from 252.
